HOOVER TAX PLAN SEEMS LIKELY TO BE TORN TO BITS

New Policy Committee to Study Situation With View to Presenting Democratic Substitute, Harrison Announces.

Opposes "Retroactive" Levies, That Is, Those on Incomes Earned This Year, as Well as Lowering of Exemptions.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Early comment on the $320,000,000 tax measure proposed by the President and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon leaves no doubt that it will be torn to pieces in Congress. It is impossible at this time to make even an approximate forecast of the result.

The congressional bill will be introduced in the first instance, by Mr. Harrison, in which the Democrats are in control, and it will go to a Senate in which the Democrats and the progressive Republicans outnumber the President's supporters.

Most of the Democrats who commented on the new Mellon plan, while condemning it in general terms, awaited the report of the Policy Committee of the Senate before committing themselves in detail. This committee, a joint body of the two houses headed by Speaker Garner and minority leader Robinson, is designed to promote party solidarity in important issues.

In view of the fact that the Mellon proposals with a view to bringing forward a comprehensive income tax substitute.

Favors Heavy Borrowing.

In the meantime, Harrison and other Democratic leaders expressed the personal view that the Mellon plan should be covered by borrowing in larger measure than recommended by the administration. This is a favorite theme of Harrison. He pointed out that in the period from July 1, 1929, to the close of the fiscal year 1930, the national debt was retired by $1,000,000,000 more than was required by law.

He did not see why the Government should seek to levy "unfair retroactive taxes" to take care of the deficit.

Retrospective taxes, he meant the proposed increased levies on incomes earned this year. The administration plan contemplates such an increase, which would be reflected in the tax payments beginning next year.

155 OF 171 FRESHMEN AT VASSAR ADMIT COPYING FOR THESIS

Say It Was Only Way They Could Get 'Unfair' Amount of Work Done.

By the Associated Press.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Dec. 10.—The notoriety given the 155 Vassar College freshmen who admitted using each other's notes in preparing a thesis has satisfactorily punished the girls, said Dr. Henry Noble McCracken, president, today.

Barbara Bailey, a senior and editor of the Miscellany News, which exposed the situation through a questionnaire, thinks the faculty will adjust the assignments so that freshmen hereafter cannot complain of being overworked.

By the questionnaire the editors of the News learned that only 16 had written their own papers and that regarding some of the others: Fifty adopted surveys written last year; 78 used notes or finished papers of their friends in the class; 24 wrote their surveys in collaboration with others; five copied other papers with a few changes in wording; two paid $1.50 for a paper marked 86 per cent last year by one of the college's strictest examiners.

One freshman, the newspaper said, copied a survey written in 1927 which has received a mark of "A" for the last three years.

Members of the class explained their action by saying that it was the only way they could get the work done and that the amount of work "was unfair." There was no conspiracy, they said.

POWERS GUILTY, DEATH PENALTY FIXED BY JURY

Counsel in Tears Urges Defendant Be Saved From Gallows—"Mentally Ill" He Says.

By the Associated Press.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 10. Harry F. Powers, charged with killing Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, Northboro, Mass., divorcee, was convicted today and sentenced to death.

Powers is also accused of the murder of another woman and her three children whose bodies were found near his garage at Quiet Dell.

Judge John C. Southern, in his instructions to the jury, said he had the right to convict Powers on circumstantial evidence alone.

He instructed them to acquit Powers if they believed Mrs. Lemke was not killed in the manner charged or if they believed the defendant was not in the county at the time of the slaying. He listed the five verdicts possible as murder in the first degree, murder in the second degree, voluntary manslaughter, involuntary manslaughter and not guilty.

Cites Notoriety of Case.

W. C. Stathers, assistant prosecutor, in his closing argument, said: "This is one of the most sordid cases we ever have known. We are all playing a part in a terrible melodrama."

"When you return Powers either should be acquitted or the shadow of eternity forever should close about him."

"His crime was heard from coast to coast. We never have had such a crime in this State and I doubt if in the whole country."

"The man who committed this atrocious murder was not killing to protect his home, family or wife. He was moved by greed, a desire for money."

"Evidently he is the type that preys on women, single or widows," he said as he told of Powers' matrimonial bureau activities. "Get this picture. Here is a man posing as a prosperous ranch owner from the West, as a civil engineer building bridges."

MOB LYNCHES TWO NEGRO SUSPECTS IN DOUBLE MURDER

Pair Taken From County Jail at Lewisburg, West Virginia, and Hanged to Telephone Pole.

BULLETS FIRED INTO THE BODIES

Men Arouse Warden in Early Morning, Grab His Keys and Seize Prisoners in Cells.

By the Associated Press.

LEWISBURG, W. Va., Dec. 10.—Two Negroes were taken from the Greenbrier County jail here early today and lynched by an organized mob of about 60 men.

They were hanged, almost nude, from the cross arm of a telephone pole on the Midland Trail, and then, before death could come by strangulation, volley after volley of shots were fired into their bodies.

The two, Tom Jackson, 23 years old, and George Banks, 27, had been arrested Nov. 22, at Leslie, W. Va., in connection with the killing of Constable Joseph Myles and Jack Brown, a companion, who had gone to a Negro dance at Leslie to order the dancers to be more quiet. After leaving the dance hall they were shot down with a shotgun. Myles died instantly, but Brown lived for a short time.

The mob went to the jail in automobiles about 2 o'clock. The cars were driven quietly around the square on which is the jail with their lights dimmed and their license plates removed. Simultaneously they pulled to the curb and parked.

Quietly, and almost with military precision, the men got out of the automobiles and marched to the jail door. Jailer Wallace Flint was summoned, and as he opened the door he was grasped by the men and his keys taken from him.

While one man guarded Flint, another went back into the cell block and awakened Jackson and Banks. Clad only in their underclothing the pair was taken out of the jail and placed in two of the automobiles.

The caravan then proceeded to the edge of town. Occupants of the lead car selected a telephone pole and the cars stopped. Ropes were tossed over either side of the cross arm and a group of men grasped the ends. Nooses were quickly fashioned as at a signal the group pulled Jackson and Banks up toward the cross arm. The two Negroes suspended well above the ground, the men tied the free ends of the ropes and stepped back. At another signal dozens of the men fired.

The shots aroused the town, but before the townspeople could get to the scene in any great numbers the lynchers had driven away in their automobiles.

Flint, the jailer, refused to say whether he had recognized any of the men or automobiles, as did the few spectators.

The mob wore masks. Authorities estimated several hundred shots were fired into each body.

I. C. C. ADVOCATES INQUIRY INTO ALL TRANSPORTATION

Recommends That Congress Pay Special Attention to Government Aided Water and Air Lines.

URGES REGULATION OF BUSES, TRUCKS

Overseeing of Holding Companies Also Suggested—Would Modify 'Fair Return' Clause.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Congressional inquiry into transportation systems, with special attention to Government-aided water and air lines, was recommended today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In its yearly report to the national legislature, it urged regulation of motor trucks and buses, railroad holding companies, freight forwarding agencies, coastwise steamship rates, refrigerator car companies and attorneys' fees in railway mail pay cases.

There were 19 recommendations. Adoption of all would result in sweeping changes in the interstate commerce act, an important one calling for modification of that section aimed to assure railroads of a "fair return" on their property investment.

The Commission called attention to the 15 per cent freight rate case decided in October. It said Congress the railroads would earn far less than an adequate return this year and suggested action to maintain adequate rates at all times.

Payments Under Protest.

The Treasury holds $13,110,450 in the railroad contingency fund. This is money paid by railroads under the recapture law and interest on the fund received from Government bonds and other sources. Most of the payments were under protest and only a few thousands could be used to lend to railroads, the objective of creation of the fund. The railroads have paid in $10,551,249.90, and the United States Government has paid $2,485,613 in interest on bonds in the fund.

As it did a year ago, the commission urged repeal of the recapture provisions of the law on the ground that it is a "wasteful and largely ineffective means of adjustment."

For this section, the commission would substitute a paragraph directing the commission to fix the general rate level so that over a period of years there would be a return which would maintain railroad credit in bad as well as good times. The commission would be authorized to determine what a fair return would be.

Would Be Kept Informed.

Amendment of another section would authorize the commission, after completing its original valuation of a railroad, to keep itself informed of new construction and improvements so the commission would have additional information on valuations whenever it was needed.

The proposed study of transportation would be intended to find out what steps should be taken to place all forms "on an equitable basis." Another goal would be ascertainment of whether and how motor carrier regulation can be made uniform over the country. Attorneys' fees in railway mail cases were assailed in the recommendations because of being paid at times on a contingent fee basis.

In an effort to lighten the pressure under which the 11 commissioners now work, Congress was urged to amend the law so authority can be delegated to individual commissioners and employees. At present the entire commission, or a division of at least three members, must consider every case decided, although many matters could be handled by executive employees.

Djouritch, the Yugoslavian member of the committee, arrived from London today and the committee sat in its full strength of 11 for the first time.

FRANCE ATTACKS ANY REDUCTION IN REPARATIONS

Young Plan Committee at Basel Hears Prof. Rist, Paris Expert, Discuss Capacity to Pay.

Dr. Melchior and Von Krosigk Describe "Last Ditch Fight" to Avert National Bankruptcy.

By the Associated Press.

BASEL, Dec. 10.—The Young Plan Committee faced today the flat opposition of France to any reduction of Germany's reparations obligations.

The attack was launched by Prof. Charles Rist, French economist, who accompanied Premier Laval to Washington for his conferences with President Hoover and who is an expert of the Bank of France.

Prof. Rist declared Germany's case was invalidated by the very figures submitted by Dr. Carl Melchior, the German representative.

Neither the two recipients was present, and the awards were accepted in their names by Hoffman Phillips, American Minister to Norway.

Halvorsen, noted historian and member of the Nobel Committee, delivered the presentation address.

The United States, he said, stood foremost among the nations to which this prize has gone during the past 20 years. France, he recalled, has received the peace prize six times and today's award brought the American score up to seven, of which four awards have been in the last five years.

Some of the most vital idealism in the world, he said, has been produced in the United States, and Miss Addams and Dr. Butler were two of the finest representatives of this idealism.

He praised Miss Addams as the possessor of the finest characteristics among the women who have worked for the cause of world peace. Dr. Butler, he said, has been carrying on the work simultaneously with Miss Addams, and it was he who induced Andrew Carnegie to establish the large fund for international reconciliation in 1910.

It is but fitting, he declared, that Aristide Briand and two other peace prize winners, Sir Austen Chamberlain and Elihu Root, should have made themselves spokesmen for the award now given to Dr. Butler. He credited Dr. Butler with having influenced American opinion in favor of cooperation between France and the United States for the outlawing of war.

OFFICER OF UNION GETS LIFE IN MINE TRIAL IN KENTUCKY

Harlan County Secretary Convicted of Deputy's Murder, and Conspiracy—Many Others Indicted.

By the Associated Press.

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., Dec. 10.—William B. Jones, Harlan County mine union secretary, was convicted of murder and conspiracy by a jury in Circuit Court here today. The jury fixed the penalty at life imprisonment.

The verdict came seven months after four men were shot and killed at Evans, Ky., last May. Scores of murder indictments were returned following the shooting.

The jury tried Jones on a charge of murdering Deputy Sheriff James Daniels, one of the four men slain. It pondered the case four hours yesterday without reaching a verdict.

Ten others indicted in connection with the killing will be tried here, starting Dec. 23. Others will be tried at Winchester next April. The trials were transferred from Harlan County, scene of the fight.

Judge Prewitt recessed court until Dec. 28. Jones received until that date to file his petition for a new trial.

Jones was ordered to jail, as Kentucky law, which permits bond on murder charges, does not permit it after conviction. He had been free on bond until the case went to the jury.

Jones' wife, their 18-year-old son, Elmer, also a coal miner, and Jones' mother, Chester, were with him when the verdict was read.

The next of the miners' trials will be taken up here, on charge of venue, is that of William H. Hightower, president of the same local union of which Jones is secretary. He faces the same charges.

DR. BUTLER AND JANE ADDAMS GET NOBEL PEACE PRIZE

Award of $40,000 Is Divided Between Columbia U. President and Chicago Social Worker.

By the Associated Press.

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 10.—Miss Jane Addams, social worker of Chicago, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, New York City, were awarded the Nobel Peace Prize today.

The award was made by the Nobel Committee of the Norwegian Storting (Parliament). Half the prize goes to each of the two winners.

The presentation took place in the Nobel Institute in the presence of King Haakon, Crown Prince Olaf, heads of foreign legations, members of the Cabinet and the Storting, high State officials and representatives of leading Norwegian educational, commercial and industrial bodies.

Neither the two recipients was present, and the awards were accepted in their names by Hoffman Phillips, American Minister to Norway.

NUMBER OF COUNTRIES CAN'T PAY AT PRESENT

Message Recommends That Foreign Debt Commission Be Re-Established With Power to Examine Problems as They Arise.

HOPES FOR A SANE LIMITATION OF ARMS

Declares World's Woes Are Due in Part to Excessive Military Burden and Nothing Should Prevent Success at Geneva.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Declaring the debtor nations cannot pay, President Hoover asked Congress today to provide for "temporary adjustments" in the war debts of Europe to the United States.

In a message submitting the June moratorium for ratification, he proposed revival of the commission which funded these debts, and said: "As we approach the new year it is clear that a number of the Governments indebted to us will be unable to meet further payments to us in full pending recovery in their economic life."

"Therefore, it will be necessary in some cases to make still further temporary adjustments."

World Study Problems.

The Foreign Debt Commission would go into the debt question in the light of "the present economic emergency" and make recommendations to Congress.

Leading off with these recommendations, the message touched upon American relations with much of the rest of the world. Mr. Hoover ranged from Manchuria to Mexico, and from the St. Lawrence waterway to Paraguay. He again urged adherence to the World Court, and vigorous action by the world at large to curb armaments.

"No discouragements should be permitted to turn the world from sane and reasonable limitations of arms," he said.

The President asked legislative sanction for the moratorium within the next five days, for it is on Dec. 15 that the next payments from abroad fall due.

He suggested provision for payment of the installments withheld over a 10-year period, beginning July 1, 1932.

His statement of last spring that "I do not approve in any remote sense of the cancellation of the debts to us," was repeated.

"The effect of this (moratorium) agreement," the President wrote, "was instantaneous in reversing the drift toward general economic panic and has served to give time to the peoples of those countries to readjust their economic life."

"The action taken was necessary. I am confident it commands itself to the judgment of the American people."

Speaker Garner, however, said today that the House would not act on the moratorium before Dec. 15. The speaker said "We certainly will not pass on such a piece of important piece of legislation before we have some information on it."

Hearings will be held before the Ways and Means Committee probably next week. He contended it did not necessarily mean that the Government would default in its payments Dec. 15, just because Congress failed to act on Hoover's proposal.

Representative Snell, the Republican leader, agreed the House could not act before Tuesday. The President briefly cited the recent visit to him by Premier Laval of France and Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy, saying their conferences brought out "valuable understanding" of the nature of current problems.

Other than reiterate America's "responsibility in maintaining the integrity of China," he confined his

GERMAN TRADE, INDUSTRY UNDER SOLE CONTROL OF PRICE DICTATOR

Dr. Carl Goerdeler Says He Will Act at Once to Conquer Ills of Nation — To Cut Factory Charges, Freight Rates.

100 ARRESTED FOR WEARING UNIFORMS

Finance Minister Declares Moratorium Failed to Put National Finances on Safe Basis — Revenues Drop, Social Expenditures Rise.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—German business realized today that its independence was gone.

Consideration of the drastic emergency decree issued Tuesday night by President von Hindenburg brought home the fact that two men now rule Germany, economically as well as politically. These men are Chancellor Heinrich Brüning and Dr. Carl Goerdeler, the "price dictator" who has absolute control over all business, from the most mighty to the most minute.

Dr. Goerdeler said in an interview he would take immediate drastic steps to meet and conquer the nation's ills. One of his first moves, he disclosed, will be to cut the prices of industrial products. Next will come freight rates and the prices of standard articles.

Government circles interpreted Chancellor Brüning's radio speech Tuesday night and the new emergency decree as marking the end of the first public encounter between the nation's two leading political personalities—the Chancellor and Adolf Hitler, leader of the country's fascists.

Political Meetings Canceled.

By bringing the long struggle into the open the Chancellor pushed Hitler off the front pages so far as domestic discussions are concerned.

Already the effects of the emergency decree are being felt. Many political meetings that had been scheduled have been canceled.

Shortly after the decree was announced 100 Hitler followers in the Rhineland were arrested for ostentatiously wearing the Nazi uniform.

The Reichsbank as well as Berlin banks have reduced interest rates.

Goerdeler, now wielding the power of life and death over any business to force it to comply with the provisions of the emergency decree, withdrew from Dr. Alfred Hugenberg's Nationalist party after the announcement of his appointment. Thereby he released himself from his obligations toward a group avowedly opposed to the Chancellor.

Brüning's Speech Denounced.

Government circles today minimized the danger of a Hitler Government and declared that, barring accidents, there was no chance of a Brüning-Hitler coalition following the Chancellor's emphatic denunciation of National Socialist aims.

The Hitler organ, Völkischer Beobachter, denounced the Brüning speech as unparalleled for its "utter lack of control" and at the same time referred to the "dread voice of a scorpion."

The paper said the speech would contribute to the Chancellor's downfall. Government circles, however, declared Brüning was more firmly entrenched than ever.

Brüning supporters asserted he had increased his prestige at home, and, at impending foreign conferences, would be able to tell the world Germany had done its best to save itself.

The National Socialist journal "Attack" and the Communist organ "Red Flag" were forbidden by the police to publish for one week because of their violent attacks on the emergency decree and on the Chancellor's speech.

Theodore Roosevelt, Elihu Root, Woodrow Wilson, Charles G. Dawes and former Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg.

The annual award has a money value of approximately $40,000. The prize was established by Alfred Bernhard Nobel, inventor of gunpowder and dynamite, who became wealthy through the sale of munitions and in oil operations.

Miss Addams, an internationally known pacifist, is president of Hull House, Chicago, and long has been an active leader in social service. She was one of the early sponsors of social legislation, and of laws forbidding child labor. At present she is undergoing treatment at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Miss Addams is a staunch prohibitionist, although she has been critical of enforcement efforts. She was a member of the Ford peace panel and last fall headed a delegation which presented to President Hoover a petition signed by 150,000 women, favoring the limitation of armaments. Last May she received from Bryn Mawr College the $5000 M. Carey Thomas prize for her work in fighting poverty, disease and delinquency among the "needy, afflicted and misunderstood."

Butler's Work for Peace.

Dr. Butler for many years has been active in efforts for world peace. As president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace he has interviewed statesmen of many countries, and together with Aristide Briand, had them sign the Kellogg peace pact.

His labors in behalf of international accord have won him decorations from many countries. He is said to have a wide acquaintance among foreign statesmen than any other private citizen.

Dr. Nathan Söderblom, Archbishop of Upsala, received the peace prize in 1930 when the Nobel awards approximated $45,000 each. Nobel in his will apportioned his huge fortune for the establishment of annual awards for outstanding achievements in physics, chemistry, literature, medicine or physiology, and the promotion of peace. It was provided that the peace award should be made by a committee of five to be chosen by the Norwegian Parliament.

In 1934 the peace prize was awarded to the Institute of International Law rather than to an individual.

DEBT MORATORIUM CALLED DEVICE TO SAVE BIG BANKERS

Democrat, in House Debate, Objects to Postponement While Millions in U. S. Are Jobless.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—President Hoover's proposed moratorium on war debts cannot be ratified by next Tuesday, when payments on the debts fall due. That much became apparent today before the Clerk of the House had finished reading the President's message requesting ratification of the proposal.

Representative Rainey, the Democratic floor leader, declared that action on the matter by Tuesday would be "impossible." And Senate leaders privately confirmed that opinion. It was stated that the House will hardly complete its organization this week.

What will happen in case the moratorium is not ratified before the payments fall due? The answer, probably, is nothing. The debtor nations will simply omit to remit, and will mark time pending action by Congress.

There seems little doubt that Congress eventually will ratify. The truth is that the Democratic House leaders are opposed to the proposal, but are prepared to defer to their Senate colleagues, who favor it. The strongest opposition to the proposal in the Senate exists among Republicans.

"Let Them Take Losses."

Reading of the message in the House provoked a prompt and vigorous response from Representative Rankin (Dem., Miss.). "Moratoriums on foreign debts means eventual cancellation," he declared. "This is nothing but a device of the international bankers to save their own foreign loans at the expense of American taxpayers. These foreign nations borrowed first from our Government, and then from our bankers. Now they are unable to pay both, so the bankers suggest cancellation of the debts to the taxpayers."

"I say that, with more than 6,000,000 unemployed roaming the streets, we are unable to assume this burden in behalf of the big bankers. If they were foolish enough to make loans, let them take their losses. There is no reason why the taxpayers should assume the load."

Facing the Republicans, he said: "We're not going to be rushed into this thing. We're going to get this thing passed by Tuesday, and I'm not certain you will get it passed at all."

The New Samuel Tilden.

House members, especially Democrats, continued this afternoon to "blow off steam" while leaders proceeded with the arduous job of making committee assignments. The debate was extremely partisan in character, but often colorful and amusing.

When Wood challenged the Democrats to present a "constructive" program, Oliver of New York retorted that the first item in a really constructive program was "to put the Republicans to bed."

But when Oliver mentioned "Democratic unity," La Guardia, New York progressive, asked him what Tammany Democrats would do if their party should nominate for President the late Samuel Tilden.

Seabury has been investigating Tammany corruption for months. Turning on his Republican colleagues, however, La Guardia told them they were "going nowhere by sitting here and parroting the word 'dole' every time relief measures are mentioned."

Moreover, the New Yorker believed the President's moratorium proposal had been "improper and unconstitutional." He said a special session of Congress should have been called to consider it, and pointed out that Hoover's refusal to call such a session was responsible for the present predicament.

discussion of the Manchurian situation to a review of steps taken. He with held other statements pending the decision of the League of Nations' Council in Paris.

As to the World Court, the President said safeguards against European entanglements stipulated by the Senate have been obtained "and the interests of the United States protected." He recalled that for 12 years every President and Secretary of State has sought adherence.

There was an expression of hope that negotiations with Canada over the St. Lawrence waterway would result in work upon the project "within a reasonable time."

Much of the body of the message dealt with Latin American affairs. He reiterated the decision to withdraw American troops from Nicaragua after 1932; declared again for the popular Government of Haiti with continued United States financial control; expressed hope for a settlement of the boundary disputes between Bolivia and Paraguay, Guatemala and Honduras and the United States and Mexico.

Borah Opposes Revival of War Debts Commission.

Opposition to revival of the War Debts Commission was expressed today by Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a statement saying:

"I favored the one-year moratorium because I thought it necessary to give Europe opportunity to adjust matters and establish a sound, economic program."

"But I am not in favor of any further extension of the moratorium and I am not in favor of adjusting these debts upon a basis of capacity to pay. Europe has not up to this time availed herself of the moratorium to adjust those matters which it is necessary to adjust before there can be any economic recovery in Europe."

"I am not in favor of re-creating the World Foreign Debt Commission. There is no business for it to transact. I do not see any purpose that Europe should be reduced to a state of bankruptcy, and I do not see any purpose that the taxpayers should assume any proper basis."

"We adjusted the debts on a basis of capacity to pay and can adjust them on a basis of obligations. Under the present policies pursued in Europe, another adjustment on a basis of capacity to pay would about wipe out the debts."

The text of the President's foreign relations message will be found on Page 1-B of the Post-Dispatch today.

leaders. He was sure, he added, that it would not be.

"Mellon seems to fear," said Cochran, "that if those in the high tax bracket are subjected to a heavy tax they will find ways to avoid payment. I say if this be the case, the Congress can find means to make them pay."

"We have in this country 145 men and women who paid income tax for 1930 on incomes of $1,000,000 and over, and eight of this number had incomes of more than $5,000,000. I say that no citizen in times like these has the right to receive $1,000,000 income without being willing to meet any demands his Government may place upon him."

"More than 6000 persons in 1930 had incomes of over $100,000 each. It is for them that Mellon appeals when he calls for his stamp taxes, and his tax on low-price theater admissions, telegraph and telephone messages and so on."

"Mellon recommends that estate taxes be increased only 5 per cent. I would not disturb the man who leaves a reasonable amount to his family, but when a man has millions which he has made by reason of the protection this Government has given him, the Government is entitled to a fair share of the millions he leaves behind."

"Why does Mellon ignore the gift tax? Hundreds of millions escape taxation listed as gifts. This must be covered in the new bill."

"Mellon overlooked a tax on street car fares. Such a recommendation would have made his plan complete."

ST. CHARLES TOLL BRIDGE TO BECOME FREE TOMORROW

State Takes Over Structure as Part of Highway System Under Plan Proposed by Hodgdon.

A 17-year-old highway toll bridge, a financial lesson for the first 15 years of its existence, which turned into a gold mine with the phenomenal motor traffic of recent years, will be a free crossing of the Mississippi River at St. Charles tomorrow.

In five and a quarter years the bridge has not only been self-maintaining but has paid its private owners handsomely out of the toll box. Now it is becoming an integral part of the State highway system, to be forever free.

Chiefly responsible for firing the toll collectors is Sam D. Hodgdon, probate judge of St. Louis County. When he announced in 1926 that the St. Louis and St. Charles Bridge Co. was going to relinquish the structure many persons refused to believe that any corporation would consent to such a scheme.

With the last payment made on the $1,250,000 purchase price, the company is conveying title to St. Charles and St. Louis counties as part of the State road system. To avoid questions as to the State's right to maintain the structure henceforth, the State plans to assume the title.

The bridge, which connects the City of St. Charles with St. Charles, carries U. S. Highway No. 40, the Atlantic City-San Francisco route, and U. S. Highway No. 31, a route from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

The bridge was built by the promoters of the trolley line between Wellston and St. Charles, as a means of getting the cars across the river. Previously the only way of crossing was by wagon ferry or the Wabash Railway trestle. The motor traffic that made the bridge a gold mine has put the trolley line into red ink, and the Public Service Co. recently obtained permission from the State Public Service Commission to cease operation on the western eight miles, including the bridge.

Started in 1902, the bridge was finished and opened in 1904 by the St. Charles & St. Louis County Bridge Co. Capital of that concern was $400,000 in stock and $400,000 in first mortgage bonds. Original cost of the structure was about $450,000, but later several hundred thousand dollars were spent to replace wooden approaches and other units with steel.

Foreclosure in 1908.

At first there was not enough income to pay the interest on the bonds and in 1908 the bondholders, foreclosing, bought the bridge for $1,250,000. The bridge had been appraised at $1,287,000.

The contract provided for the company to continue operation and maintenance of the bridge and to distribute the surplus earnings semiannually among the stockholders in addition to giving the stockholders 4 1/2 per cent interest on deferred balances.

The company agreed to turn over the bridge to the counties when the $1,250,000 purchase price was fulfilled, and to retire the $143,000 in bonds that were outstanding in 1926 out of the $1,250,000. All of the bonds have been retired in this way except a few whose owners cannot be located.

Thus the owners of 1926 on a stock basis have shared more than $1,000,000 a year for more than five years besides sharing the interest. Cash has been distributed among the stockholders following each semi-annual settlement, and now the stock is to be canceled. A bonus has been eating itself up. When the contract was made, Jesse McDonald, counsel for the company, who has since become a member of the State Highway Commission, declared that the company was willing to enter this arrangement because there was the possibility the bridge might have been taken away by condemnation and because it was felt to be unfair to charge tolls on a national highway.

On Aug. 16, 1926, the committee entered into its unique contract with the bridge company. The bridge had been appraised at $1,287,000.

RED CROSS AID ASKED FOR SOFT COAL MINERS

Appeal Signed by Seven Governors Tells of Suffering of Children.

By the Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 10.—The Governors of seven states, including Pennsylvania, today sent a joint telegram to John B. Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, Washington, asking that organization to relieve distress in the bituminous coal mining areas of the nation.

The telegram was signed by Governors Miller of Alabama; Parkland of Arkansas; Seligman, New Mexico; White, Ohio; Murray, Oklahoma; Kern, Utah, and Pinchot, Pennsylvania.

The telegram read in part: "Among the regions hard hit by depression and unemployment in our respective states none are more deeply affected than the soft coal producing areas."

"The hardships of the unemployed bituminous miners and their families amount to a calamity. The condition of these mining communities, never an enviable one, has been made so desperate by the economic depression that it amounts to a great emergency."

The children in particular are exposed to privation whose results threaten to follow them throughout their lives.

"Our respective states have been doing all they could to meet this situation but for constitutional and other reasons what they have been able to do is not enough."

"It is the peculiar function of the American Red Cross to relieve distress. Great sums are being collected and great sums are being distributed to the needy."

DOCTOR TESTIFIES PROF. KANE'S WIFE HAD HEART DISEASE

Backs Educator's Contention
in Murder Trial That Drowning of His Mate
Was Accidental.

LETTERS BARRED FROM EVIDENCE

Whether Educator Will Take Stand to Defend
Self in Drowning of Wife
Is Not Decided.

By the Associated Press.
HAMPTON, Va., Dec. 10.—Mrs.
Elisha Kent Kane was described today as an "unfortunate woman"
with a gloomy outlook on life, especially when ill from a "tumultuous heart action."

The testimony was offered by Dr.
E. A. Abernethy, physician of the University of North Carolina, called as a defense witness in the murder trial of Prof. Kane, charged with drowning his wife in Chesapeake Bay.

Mrs. Kane would not have been able to take care of herself if she had suffered a heart attack on the rocks at Grand View beach, where she was drowned Sept. 11.

The physician, who said he had wide experience in diagnosing heart trouble
in examining athletes, told the court he said he had treated Mrs.
Kane for very definite heart attacks during the three years that the Kanes lived at a cottage in Hampton, Va. Prof. Kane is charged with drowning his wife in Chesapeake Bay.

Dr. Abernethy was the third witness for the professor, who says
the drowning was accidental. Dr.
Faulkner, physician who called the body at a hospital, testified yesterday that death might have been caused by heart trouble
plus water in the lungs.

Dr. Abernethy was preceded on the stand by Hazel Fenton, 14 years old, who said Mrs. Kane suffered a heart attack at the Hilton Village home of Mrs. Kane's parents on the Saturday before the drowning party. Miss Fenton is a neighbor of the parents of Mrs. Kane.

On cross-examination Dr. Abernethy said he attended Mrs. Kane about 100 times at his office and about 20 times at her home.

The root of her trouble was that she was neurotic, he said.

Answering a juror's question Dr.
Abernethy said "continuous unhappy living conditions" would have a decided effect on Mrs. Kane's health.

Mrs. Susan Lee, antique shop proprietor, said Mrs. Kane suffered a heart attack in her shop a few days before the drowning. "She was unconscious for five or six minutes absolutely out," Mrs. Lee said.

The prosecution rested yesterday afternoon after witnesses had testified as to circumstances related to the drowning and had told of domestic difficulties between the professor and his wife.

Letters said by the prosecution to have been written to Kane by a woman other than his wife, and to have suggested a motive for the alleged crime, were barred from evidence.

ates a fleet of motor trucks, ended
last night when she was found by her husband with friends at Essex
Fells, four miles from her home.

Mrs. Pickrell fled from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
John C. Barclay, Monday night after she had been separated from the man with whom she eloped
last August. She fashioned a rope out of bed sheets and lowered herself from a bedroom window.

The romance of Pickrell and his bride started in June, 1930, when the truck driver saved the mill-ionaire's daughter from drowning.

Their subsequent courtship,
elopement and marriage last August was made public yesterday
when police were notified the bride was missing from her father's home. Her friends said she had been taken from her husband six weeks ago. Since then, it was reported, she had been kept virtually a prisoner.

Annulment proceedings have been started by her father. Pickrell was a widower and father of a five-year-old son when he married the girl.

HABITUAL CRIMINAL CHARGE FOR FALSE INJURY CLAIMS

Three Warrants for Obtaining Money by False Pretenses Issued Against Ex-Convict.

Three warrants under the habitual criminal act, charging him
with obtaining money by false pretenses, were issued by the Circuit
Attorney today against Willie Beal, 52-year-old Negro, who has lived without work for the last four years by claiming falsely to have been injured in accidents, on an average, six times a month.

The maximum penalty for obtaining money by false pretenses is five years in prison and the habitual criminal act makes the maximum penalty obligatory upon conviction. Beal has served two penitentiary sentences, one for grand larceny, the other for arson.

The warrants charge he falsely alleged he had been hurt by a truck
of the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., collecting $150; by the automobile of a young woman who paid him $60 and to have fallen on a street car. In the last case he got $25.

In addition, a warrant charging obtaining money by false pretenses,
a misdemeanor, was issued by the Prosecuting Attorney's office against Beal. Beal was caught when he attempted to make a false claim against a policeman whose automobile he stumbled against Tuesday afternoon.

'AIN'T THAT NICE?' COSTS OFFENDER 7 MONTHS MORE

Abraham Lincoln Butler, 45 years old, will spend a year in jail
instead of five months for liquor violations because he remarked,
"Well, ain't that nice," when Federal Judge Wham imposed sentence at East St. Louis today. He was also fined $200.

Butler pleaded guilty as a second offender to sale and possession of liquor and maintaining a nuisance
at his home, 319 South Fourth street, East St. Louis. He told the court that his income from selling liquor recently had not exceeded $1 weekly.

Following Butler's remark at the five months' sentence Judge Wham
asked him if he was intoxicated.
Butler replied in the negative, adding, "I was pretty full last night though."

"Well, your sentence is increased to a year because of your actions,"
the court remarked.

POLICE KILL RUNAWAY BULL AFTER 12-BLOCK CHASE

Animal Escapes From One Packing Plant Pursued by Men in Autos.

Policemen in several automobiles
and on motorcycles had an exciting
half hour today chasing a bull which had escaped from a packing house through streets and alleys
in South St. Louis. The chase ended in a yard of the Sartorius Provision Co., 2722 Arsenal street,
when the cornered animal was killed by two shots from a submachine gun by Motorcycle Patrolman John Leighton.

The bull had been taken to the J. H. Belz Provision Co., Broadway and Miami street, by Ray Beal, a farmer near Bonne Terre, Mo. As it was being led to the scales it broke away and dashed for freedom.

A call was broadcast by the police radio at 10:30 a. m. About 20
policemen and some motorists joined in the chase. The Sartorius company's plant is about 12 blocks
from that of the Belz company.

FAIRMONT CITY PAINTER KILLED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

George Miller Said to Have Stepped From Behind Truck Into Path of Car.

George Miller, 37 years old, a painter, 4014 Cook road, Fairmont City, an East St. Louis suburb, was killed this morning when he was struck by an automobile at 2607 Collinsville road, Fairmont
City.

The driver of the automobile said he was O. H. Burgner of Edwardsville, a laboratory employee at the Shell Petroleum Corporation plant
at Wood River, Ill. Witnesses said Miller stepped out from behind a passing truck into the path of Burgner's car.

two weeks in police raids on handbook shops and charged with vagrancy were dismissed in Police Court today when 289 cases were called. Some of the defendants had as many as 12 charges against their names, indicating they had been arrested nearly every day.

Police Judge Blaine's court,
where 250 cases were docketed,

TWO MEN KILLED WHEN AUTO HITS REAR OF TRUCK

J. P. Holt, East St. Louis and Private Story, Jefferson Barracks, Lose Lives Near Fredericktown, Mo.

Two men were killed when their automobile crashed into the back of a truck on State Highway No.
61 four miles south of Fredericktown, Mo., last night.

They were James P. Holt, 31 years old, a lawyer's investigator of 5308 Caseyville avenue, East St.
Louis, and Curt Story, 28, of Dexter, Mo., a private in the United States Army stationed at Jefferson Barracks. Holt was the driver.

The accident occurred about four miles south of Fredericktown
where the truck had been stopped on the highway at a curve in the road.

Capt. A. D. Sheppard and Sergt.
Rufus Reed of the highway patrol had stopped the truck
driver, William Griffin of Belgrade,
and were examining the tail light
when, according to Sheppard, Holt's car, without its lights burning, rounded the curve at high speed and crashed into the truck.
The accident occurred at about 6 o'clock.

The bodies were taken to Fredericktown for the inquest. Holt survived by his widow and two children. Members of his family said he had been to Malden, Mo., on a business trip, having left East St. Louis on Tuesday, and was apparently returning home when the accident occurred. They could not account for Story's presence in the car.

Mitchell told Glass, in a letter
transmitting the report, that the Parole Board reconsidered its parole action after learning of the corruption attempt, and that Gold-hurst was indicted for mail fraud
a second time for an offense committed "while he was on bail and awaiting disposition of the first case."

Goldhurst pleaded guilty and was sentenced to five years on Oct. 16, 1932. He became eligible for parole last June 15, and on June 19
the Parole Board granted parole,
but postponed the effective date to April 15, 1933.

Recent investigation disclosed,
the report said, that shortly before the plea of guilty, Bishop Cannon
asked the United States Attorney to postpone it on the ground that the Bishop expected to be absent
for a time and desired to be present
when the case was reached as it might involve him in publicity.

This request was refused, the report said.

The report said Goldhurst in August, 1932, was attempting to bribe a young woman assistant in the United States Attorney's office.
It added that the young woman
denied the charges.

"There is no ground whatever for questioning the integrity either of Miss Falor or the two other officials," it added.

GUZIK'S CONVICTION UPHELD
U. S. Appeals Court Acts in Case of Capone Business Manager.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld the conviction of Jack Guzik, business manager of the Capone liquor-gambling vice syndicate, as an income tax dodger.

Until his chief, "Scarface" Al Capone, was convicted on similar charges and sentenced, Guzik had received the heaviest sentence in any of the gangster income tax cases. Five years was the term assessed for him almost a year ago
and upheld by the higher court today. In addition he was fined $17,500. The Government charged that his income for three years was

CANNON BROKER'S PAROLE IS REVOKED AFTER U. S. INQUIRY

Attorney-General Gives
Senator Glass Report
That Goldhurst Tried to Bribe Prosecutor.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The
parole of Harry L. Goldhurst, broker, who handled stocks for Bishop James Cannon Jr., has been revoked.

A report disclosing that Gold-hurst attempted to bribe an assistant in the United States Attorney's office in the Southern District of New York was made public today by Attorney-General Mitchell.

The report disclosed that former United States Attorney Charles H.
Tuttle and former Assistant United States Attorney Robert T. Manley recommended parole for Goldhurst while knowing of the attempt at corruption.

Attorney-General Mitchell gave out the results of an investigation
the Justice Department made after Senator Glass, Virginia Democrat, demanded study of the case.

Cannon "Was Interested."

The report also showed that Bishop Cannon was interested in the Goldhurst case, but it said that thorough investigation "does not support the suggestion that Goldhurst pleaded guilty on any assurance of parole or that Bishop Cannon had anything whatever to do with the recommendations by the Judge or former United States Attorneys with respect to parole."

Mitchell told Glass, in a letter
transmitting the report, that the Parole Board reconsidered its pa-
role action after learning of the corruption attempt,

6602 DelmarBRITISH PREMIER
PREDICTS WORLD
ECONOMIC PARLEY

Says One Task of "Conference of Governments"
Will Be to Examine International Debts.

LONDON, Dec. 10. — A great
"Conference of Governments" to investigate all the causes of the world's economic ills is contemplated by the British Government, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald told the House of Commons yesterday.

Declaring that the conference
would be held, MacDonald said
the Government would like to have it meet immediately after the banking experts now at Basel send in their report.

One of the specific tasks of the gathering of Governments, the Prime Minister said, would be to examine "questions of international debts which lie at the base of our currency problem."

"It is the view of this Government," MacDonald continued, "that there should be such a conference
and that it should approach its work in a spirit of realism."

The Governments should examine all the facts, he added, and should aim at an agreement "which will not merely tie over these difficulties temporarily, but will establish the whole world, now linked together by increasing social, political and economic deterioration,
on a footing of hopeful endeavor."

"This can be done only with a realization by all nations that,
whatever their own circumstances
may be at the moment, their continued prosperity and internal peace depend on the peace and prosperity of the whole world."

"In that spirit His Majesty's Government will enter the conference and will use its influence to that end."

Regrets Delay.
MacDonald said he regretted the unnecessary delay in bringing the nations together to settle "these questions of international debts"
that are fundamental to the British problem. "This Government is convinced, however, that any move
to hasten this on its own initiative
would have been fruitless," he continued.

"It is sure that the experts now meeting at Basel are fully aware of the urgency of their task and that they will produce a report
with all possible expedition."

The Prime Minister's speech was made in reply to a formal opposition vote of censure moved by Sir
Stafford Cripps, Labor member.
The motion arraigned the Government for failure to take steps to
"deal with the currency and exchange situation" and for not producing a plan to cope with the problems of unemployment and high rent.

"This Government is just tinkering," Cripps declared. "It has failed completely to restore the confidence essential to national recovery, and it is ridiculous to pretend that the measures taken by the Government thus far will do anything to help the balance of exchange."

The Prime Minister replied that the Government would make no declaration at present to the effect that sterling would not again be placed on the gold standard.
"It would be madness and folly,"
he continued, "to declare, with the conditions which affect sterling and the international circumstances which control its value, what the value of sterling will be permanently."

Economy as a Stunt.
He warned against making economy a stunt, and said:

"The most uneconomical place for money is a stocking. The most uneconomical use for capital is to fail to find employment for workmen."

Protectionist Conservatives succeeded in raising the question of tariffs on iron and steel, which in varying phraseology they declared essential for re-establishment of British industry.

"If the House were to attempt to deal finally in the next two or three days with the question, we should do far more harm than good," replied Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade.

"Open as my mind is on this question, it is closed firmly against taking great gambling risks. All aspects of the matter must be examined closely if the best interests of all parts of industry are to be safeguarded. While the Government continues its investigation I shall retain an open mind."

Predicts World Collapse.
Sir George Paish, noted economist, in an address at Manchester yesterday, predicted that the world's economic system would break down within two months. "If my information is correct, and I think it is, nothing can prevent a complete world breakdown within the next two months," he said.

"We must call the nations together without delay to consider the situation. Reparations should be abolished or reduced to so small
a figure that they would be negligible."

"Inter-allied debts should be written off entirely and the United States should forgive the $50,000,000
($350,000,000) a year due her from those debts. Further than that, the world's tariffs must come down."

"The gravest consequences are likely to arise from our own departure in the matter of tariffs.
Great Britain is making world bankruptcy inevitable. Her policy is the greatest folly that could be conceived."

ENGLISH POET SPEAKS HERE

Edward Davidson Compares Whitman and Goethe.

Walt Whitman and Edgar A.
Guest were reduced to the same category in regard to their conception of human nature, by Edward Davidson, English poet, in a lecture
yesterday at the Wednesday Club.
He considered Whitman great, despite limited imagination and lack of poetic facility, because his work
was based on the idea that all mankind was more alike than unlike,

and more noble than ignoble. Similarly, he argued, Goethe's themes,
if not his verse, were sublime.
Neither science nor the machine
can crowd poetry out of the world,
he said, since poetry is a matter of emotion rather than reason, and
"no subject can be worn out in verse until it has been worn out in life."

FOR LOCKS AND DAMS FOR UPPER MISSISSIPPI

Army Engineering Chief Would Spend $124,000,000 for a 9-Foot Channel.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—A system of dams and locks from the mouth of the Missouri to Minneapolis has been definitely selected as the method of giving a real navigation channel to the Upper Mississippi.

A recommendation for approval of an expenditure of $124,000,000 to make a nine-foot channel by this method was sent to Congress yesterday by Major-General Lytle Brown, Chief of Army Engineers. Maintenance of the waterway alone will amount to $1,750,000 annually. Some dredging will be necessary to supplement the raised water level, but Gen. Brown held that dredging alone would prove inadequate to the project.

It is disapproved the creation of reservoirs on the ground that the additional advantages which might result would not warrant the much greater cost.

Representative Reid (Rep.), Illinois, was elected president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress yesterday to succeed former Senator Ramsdell of Louisiana. The congress passed resolutions advocating the improvement of all harbors and waterways approved by the army engineers. If necessary, the resolution said, Congress should authorize the issuance of bonds to raise funds in order to complete all projects within the shortest possible time.

Cleveland A. Newton of St. Louis was made a vice president of the congress.

SUSPECT ARRESTED IN MURDER OF FRANK MODICA IN COUNTY

Sora Mantia, Former Associate of Italian Gangsters, Held for Questioning

Sora Mantia, former associate of Italian gangsters, was turned over to St. Louis County authorities last night by city police for questioning in the murder of Frank Modica, who was found shot to death in his automobile Nov. 14 on Lindbergh road just east of Lindbergh boulevard. He will be questioned tomorrow when Sheriff Lill returns from a convention of police officers.

Mike Dattilo, member of the once-powerful Russo gang in St. Louis, was arrested two days after the killing, when police learned he was suffering from a bullet wound. He asserted he was shot by his wife, who pointed a pistol at him in jest, thinking it was empty.

Veteran of 1896 Campaign Renews 16-to-1 Plea Here

White-Haired Former Senator Cannon of Utah Says He Advocated Plan
Before Bryan Did.

Sixteen to one, the monetary ratio of silver to gold proposed in the Bryan campaign of 1896, was endorsed today by former Senator Frank J. Cannon of Utah, in his address at the City Club, the second of three luncheon talks scheduled locally on the "world cause of silver." He spoke to a Chamber of Commerce gathering at Hotel Statler yesterday, and will address East St. Louis business organizations at the Broadview Hotel tomorrow.

Cannon declared that 16 to 1 was a natural and practical ratio, as shown by relative production of the two metals over a period of centuries. He said that he and other members of the Senate from Western states were insisting on remonetization of silver at 16 to 1 before William Jennings Bryan became known to the public.

The former Senator, an emotional orator reminiscent of the eloquence of Ingersoll, Bourke Cockran and Vest, alluded to the historic events in which he figured in the Republican national convention of 1896 in St. Louis. In a caucus held to discuss the platform, Cannon, not so portly as now, and with his thick hair not yet turning to its present whiteness, stood up and warned the dominating group against committing the party to the gold standard. "If you do," he said impressively, "we shall have to go."

Tradition has preserved the explosive three-word reply of Mark Hanna, "Good God, go!" And they went, the next day, Senator Cannon following his older colleague, Senator Henry M. Teller of Colorado, in the solemn exit from the convention hall, to join the ranks of Bryan and 16-to-1.

Still Fighting for Silver.
There was an interval, 20 years ago, when Cannon turned his oratory, and his intimate personal knowledge, against the ruling hierarchy of the Mormon Church, leading President Joseph F. Smith from pulpits throughout the country, and helping to finish the hardy institution of polygamy. Now, near his seventy-third birthday, he is head of the International Silver Commission in Denver, and is touring the nation to demand measures for "restoring" silver in the nation's monetary system, and in world trade.

In his 45-minute speech, Cannon used the arts of the actor no less than those of the orator. One minute, his eyes twinkling and his jelly-bowl form radiating mirth like a Santa Claus, he was amusing his hearers with a droll anecdote of Washington life; the next, with his eyes almost closed, in syllables eminently prolonged, he was half-whispering an appeal to compassion; then, with mane shaking and forefinger extended, he was thunderously accusing "You, and you, and you" of responsibility for conditions.

"If money is idle," he began, "men are idle, and money has to go out as a dole, whatever you call it. In the United States (he pronounced it Unahited States) there is $3,300,000,000 of all kinds of money. But the Treasury and the Federal Reserve hold $5,000,000,000, leaving in actual circulation only $3,300,000,000. In the United States, about $150,000,000,000 is owing in public and private debts. In the world the total of debt is $750,000,000,000, and the money of ultimate redemption is about $10,000,000,000.

"How are creditors going to collect 750 billions, with only 10 1/2 billions of money to pay it? Oh, you say, it will be carried on credit. But credit has failed. When the world is producing new wealth, debt can be multiplied, and credit will sustain it, but in the last two years the world has not produced new wealth, but in that time the world's wealth has shrunk by 250 billions.

"For the moment, the debtor is placed, unhappily, in the fortunate position of being unable to pay, so he doesn't have to pay. But if that is to go on, and the people who owe us money cannot pay, it will have to come out of our taxpayers. To save the credit of the industrial world, which has almost collapsed, we need the restoration of silver, as money, to supplement the stock of gold.

"The opponents of silver say this is a new proposal. It is not. King Solomon established the money of his kingdom, silver and gold, at the ratio of 15 to 1, and if his marital ratio had been nearer to that figure he might have been happier. With some variations, this has continued through the centuries.

Gold and Silver.
"They say the silver mine owners would flood our mints with their product. The silver produced in the United States is about 60,000,000 ounces a year. Some automobile manufacturers have a more valuable output than all the silver mines. Since Columbus discovered America, the production of gold has been 1,041,000,000 ounces, of which 500,000,000 ounces remain for monetary use, or $10,500,000,000. In the same time, the production of silver has been 14,143,000,000 ounces, of which there remains now 8,000,000,000 ounces, or $10,480,000,000 value, about the same as the gold value."

Cannon then expounded his plan for a loan of silver to Germany, the silver bullion to be taken from the United States Treasury, where it is now "idle," and replaced with German bonds, and to be repaid in the same weight of silver without interest; and his plan for a deal in silver and Farm Board wheat with Germany and with China. He followed this with the argument, recently developed in the current silver campaign, that silver may save the world from Bolshevism.

FREDERICKTOWN YOUTH DENIES SECOND KILLING

Slayer of Cousin Suspected at Los Angeles in Another Woman's Murder.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 10.—Held as a fugitive from Fredericktown, Mo., where he is wanted for murdering Mrs. Emma Cole, Amos M. Lewis, alias Theodore Dunn, 19 years old, was questioned again today in connection with the murder of Miss Eugenia Vance, 55-year-old cleaning shop operator. Police said there was a similarity in many details of the two murder cases. The body of Miss Vance was found in a field Monday night.

According to police, Lewis made a 16-page confession relating how he killed Mrs. Cole, who was his father's first cousin. He said he lost his temper and killed her because she annoyed him while on an automobile ride.

Lewis was arrested as the result of a letter he wrote to an acquaintance, Leland Neely of Ferguson, Tex., where Missouri authorities had traced the fugitive.

Lewis was arrested Tuesday on a minor charge while at his work as a hotel kitchen boy. Lewis' place of work was not far from the little cleaning shop Miss Vance owned. He denied connection with the Vance killing.

In his statement Lewis was quoted as saying his true name was "Amos Monroe Lewis," and that until the time of the killing of Mrs. Cole he had lived with his parents in Fredericktown.

On the day of the tragedy, Lewis said, he rented an automobile from the Dale Thompson Agency and drove to Pevley, Mo., to get Mrs. Cole, who had written Lewis' parents she was leaving her husband and wished to live with them. In Pevley he said he met Mrs. Cole and her husband and that Cole gave her a $200 check, saying, "Don't come back."

"About 15 miles out of Pevley," Lewis' statement read, "she began to annoy me and made advances. I lost my temper and started choking her. She struggled and slapped me and tried to get away. Suddenly I found her dead and I drove off on a side road and put the body there."

"I knew I had to have money to get away, so I searched the body and found about $300 which I took."

He said he threw Mrs. Cole's belongings into a mine shaft and drove to Flat River, Mo. He was traced to Memphis and thence to Sardinia, Tenn. Lewis said he wandered through Texas and came here working in hotels when his money gave out.

Cunard Line Hails Work on Ship.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 10.—The Cunard Steamship line has decided to suspend work on the 73,000-ton liner laid down at Clydebank early this year and scheduled to be launched in February. The Press Association and the evening newspapers, in making known the decision, said it would throw 3000 men out of work.

STUDEBAKER engineering genius soars to new heights in these Triumphant New Studebakers. Drastically lower in price, they are better cars than the world could ever buy before at any price.

Studebaker, pioneer and pacemaker, believes this is the psychological moment for smashing the depression with unprecedented values. Steels, textiles, copper, wood, rubber—all raw materials used in building automobiles—are down in price, and Studebaker is passing on the savings to you.

32 Sensational Advancements for 1932

Of the 32 betterments developed by the greatest automobile engineering staff in the world—of this great aggregation of innovations from bumper to tail light—the one of supreme importance to every motorist is 1932 Free Wheeling plus Synchronized Shifting.

Studebaker engineers pioneered Free Wheeling—the greatest advance since the self-starter—but they did not rest on their laurels. They have developed a vastly finer Free Wheeling, masterfully combined with Synchronized Shifting and Automatic Starting—Free Wheeling under absolute control—Free Wheeling in all forward speeds—the last word in restful driving, brilliant performance and thrifty operation.

Safety Plate Glass All Around

Never before in cars delivering under $2000 has Safety Plate Glass in all windshields and all windows of all models been offered as standard equipment, without extra charge—a superior, new, full-sealed, super-strength 1932 type of utterly clear, shatter-proof Safety Plate Glass.

Never before has power been so fully cushioned—vibration so completely eliminated as in the inherently better balanced

Studebaker Eights and Six. Merely turning the ignition key starts the engine, a new protection against stalling—a new convenience.

Never before has there been anything like the Studebaker Automatic Ride Control available as standard equipment in the new Presidents and Commanders. This almost uncanny advancement, automatically, without any attention from the driver, adjusts shock absorber and spring action instantaneously to compensate for changes in temperature, speed and road surfaces. No hand adjustment is needed. Studebaker Automatic Ride Control “thinks for itself.”

Studebaker's new Air-Curve Coachcraft gives a breath-taking impression of grace and actually increases top speed notwithstanding longer, wider bodies.

There are new body types, too, frankly French in origin but new to America—a smart 5-passenger 2-door St. Regis Brougham with a large trunk as standard equipment—convertible all-season sedans—and convertible all-season roadsters. There are new Empire Colors—a brilliant melody of vivid, radiant hues.

And every new Studebaker is sold with Studebaker's New Service Policy—a guarantee that completely covers the first 4000 miles.

Still Other Startling Betterments

These Triumphant New Studebakers offer you in addition these startling betterments... new inside sun visor... anti-glare sloping windshield... chromium plated steel spoke wheels... one-piece fenders... steel running boards... integral unit body construction... heat-resisting, sponge rubber floor mats... improved rim assembly... air-cleaner, carburetor silencer and Full-Power muffler... single key serves ignition, all doors, package compartment and spare tire lock... all these, plus scores of minor refinements in design and appointments, mark these latest Studebakers as indeed, Triumphant New.

BENEFIT FIGHT TICKETS ON SALE TOMORROW

Jimmy Londos to Defend Wrestling Title, Receipts to Go to Community Fund.

Tickets to the benefit exhibition of boxing and wrestling at The Arena, Dec. 23, at which Jimmy Londos will defend his claim to the world's wrestling championship, will be placed on sale tomorrow. The Community Fund is to receive 75 per cent of the gross receipts. Boxes of six seats, to sell for $50, will be available at the ticket office on the mezzanine floor of the Arcade Building, and at the office of Collector Koenig in the City Hall. Koenig has been named chairman of the ticket distribution committee. Other tickets, priced from $1 to $5, will be offered at the Arcade Building box office. The program is being arranged by Promoter Tom Packs, who has donated his services and those of his staff to the Community Fund. An opponent for Londos has not yet been selected. Packs expects to present several amateur bouts as preliminaries and at least four professional boxing and wrestling engagements.

Every seat in The Arena will be reserved. Packs has had 17,300 tickets printed. At Least $1500 Realized From Benefit Dance at Hotel. The Community Fund and Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment will receive $1500 or more from the benefit dance held last night at the Coronado Hotel. The hotel management today estimated the attendance at $800. The charities are to receive the $3 cover charge paid by each person. Music for the dance was supplied by Duke Ellington and his Cotton Club orchestra. They arrived about 11:45 p. m., following an appearance at the Ambassador Theatre.

BILL TO RETURN $1,081,280 TO PLAZA BOND ACCOUNT

Money Was Borrowed to Pay For Municipal Auditorium Site.

An ordinance, prepared by the City Counselor, will be introduced in the Board of Aldermen tomorrow to transfer $1,081,280 from the Municipal Auditorium bond fund to the Memorial Plaza bond account, as reimbursement for the site of the auditorium, which had been bought with plaza money. A bill is pending to appropriate $3,700,000 for immediate construction of the auditorium, on the south side of Market street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets. Passage of the two measures will leave a balance of only $13,604.83 in the auditorium fund, which originally was $5,000,000. Architects' and engineers' fees have amounted to $203,113.17.

After the transfer of the land money is made, the city will be able to pay for 10 pieces of land still needed for Memorial Plaza, which it is expected will cost $1,051,587. Then there will be a balance of $120,716.73 in this fund, which started as $6,000,000. This balance may be available for improvement of the plaza, although there is some question as to specific authority for such usage. The plaza bond item was intended also to provide $1,000,000 for a war memorial, but the city has no prospect of funds for this purpose unless the Supreme Court of Missouri upholds its effort to assess benefits in connection with the plaza site condemnation. In the meantime, it has been agreed that the auditorium shall serve as the memorial.

SANITARY BOARD 'HOST' DREW $800 A MONTH

Witness' Job Was to Take
State Legislators to Shows and to See Signs

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Two men who said they worked to earn the money they collected from the Sanitary District board in 1927-28 were promptly threatened with perjury indictments by Assistant State's Attorney Harold Keeler.

The men, Joseph R. Blais and Paul Brown, testified yesterday in the trial of Timothy J. Crowe, former president, and seven other trustees and former officers of the board who are charged with squandering $5,000,000 of the public's money during the Crowe regime.

After a number of other witnesses had taken the stand to testify that they drew big pay for getting votes, entertaining visiting legislators, and managing bowling teams, Brown said that he worked every day as a clerk for his salary of $226 a month, and Blais said he earned the $2300 paid him in six months of 1928 by addressing envelopes.

Keeler said indictments would be sought because both had informed the grand jury which indicted Crowe and the others that they did no work.

William J. Connors, a North Side politician, told the two judges hearing the evidence that his job was to take State legislators to theaters and on tours of the city when they came to Chicago. Connors said he received $400 a month salary and $400 a month expenses and that he was hired by Crowe.

Bessie Volk, the vote-getter, said she received two monthly checks, one for $45 and the other for $37. She told of getting her job by telling Crowe she had a lot of friends whose votes she could get for him.

Arthur McKeown testified that his salary was $200 a month and that his only duty was to act as manager of the T. J. Crowe bowling team.

15 PENNSYLVANIA OFFICIALS INDICTED FOR DRY LAW PLOT
Also Accused of Conspiring to Extort Money From Proprietors of Speakeasies.

By the Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 10.—A member of the State Legislature, Federal, county and city officials were among 15 persons indicted in Federal Court here yesterday for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law and extortion.

With the indictments, Clarence O. Stout, Federal agent, said he thought the Government was well on the way to breaking up a ring which he declared had obtained money illegally from speakeasy proprietors throughout the Eastern part of the State.

Along with John J. Heffernon, member of the Legislature from Luzerne County, those indicted include James T. Ford, alias Thomas J. O'Dowd, reputedly from Ohio, the alleged ringleader of the organization; James J. Moran, Joseph Connors and Edward J. Connors, all reputedly active in Pittston politics; George Green, Hugh J. Evans and Charles J. Householder, all former Deputy United States Marshals; David Gould, prohibition agent operating from the Baltimore headquarters of the Department, and former Deputy United States Marshal in Pennsylvania, Edward S. Maucher, brother-in-law of George Deckelmeier, City Treasurer of Scranton; William W. Schultz, prohibition agent with the Pittsburgh office of the department, and formerly in Harrisburg office; John Vance, Chief of Police of Chester; William T. Ramsey, former Mayor of Chester; Abe Morgan, Chief of Police of Mount Carmel; James D. Bachman, Luzerne County detective, and John F. Downs, employee of the Federal Government at Washington.

Freed in Scranton Bombing.

By the Associated Press.
SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 10.—Ludwig Caminita, editor of a local foreign language newspaper, who was arrested a short time ago in connection with the dynamiting of the home of Fortunato Tiscar, Italian Vice Consul, here on Nov. 11, was discharged yesterday. Police admitted there was not sufficient evidence to connect him with the case.

MRS. CULBERTSON SAYS RIVALS HAVE HAD BETTER CARDS

Analysis of the Hands So Far Gives Lenz and Jacoby Edge in Holding Aces and Honor Tricks.

BRIDGE CONTEST CONTINUES TONIGHT

Shepard Barclay Figures There Wouldn't Be Much Difference in the Score Under Either System.

This is another in the series of articles which Mrs. Josephine Culbertson is writing on the contract bridge match being played by her and her husband, Ely Culbertson, originators of the approach-forcing system of bidding, against Sidney S. Lenz and Oswald Jacoby, exponents of the official system. At the end of ten rubbers, Tuesday night, Lenz and Jacoby led the Culbertsons by 2075 points. There were no games last night. The play will be resumed tonight.

By MRS. JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON.

(Copyright, 1931.) NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—I took advantage of the first pause in the bridge contest in which my husband and I are engaged with Sidney S. Lenz and Oswald Jacoby testing the respective merits of the approach-forcing and official systems of contract bidding, to attend the theater. The play was interesting, but I confess that many times my mind wandered back to the bridge table, analyzing and re-analyzing the hands, so much so that after the theater, I stopped at the Cavendish Club for a few rubbers of bridge.

I have just completed the analysis of the cards held in the first 10 rubbers which, by the way, required 59 hands. I find that in these rubbers we held, all told, 114 aces against 122 held by our opponents. Peculiarly enough, the statistics revealed that in the 59 hands thus far held each side has held 118 kings. These figures are in a measure significant of the drop of the cards.

For instance, Tuesday night we held 74 aces and 72 kings, while Lenz and Jacoby jointly held 70 aces and 71 kings. The difference in score on that evening was 360 points, which was accounted for by the fact that our opponents bid and made a slam. On the first evening of play Lenz and Jacoby had a marked preponderance of the aces, holding 52 to our 40 and 47 kings to our 45. We were fortunate, indeed, to escape with a defeat of only 1715 points in view of this massing of the high honors in their hands.

Table of Honor Tricks. Another study of the honor strength held in the hand is interesting. As most readers know, the generally accepted standard of valuing a hand for an opening bid, an overall or raise, is the Culbertson standard table of honor tricks, which is as follows: (X means a low card.)

One-Half Trick.
Any K, X.
Any Q, J, X.
Any Q, K and J, X in two suits.
One Trick.
Any A, K, J, X.
Any K, Q, J, X.
Any K, X and Q, X in two suits.
One and One-Half Tricks.
Any A, Q, or A, J, 10, or K, Q, 10.

Two Tricks.
Any A, K.
This has been called by many players, some of whom do not accept all the principles of the approach-forcing system, as the indispensable yardstick for the valuation of a hand.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—After a night off, the proponents of rival systems of contract bridge bidding will resume their challenge match tonight.

Sidney S. Lenz, ace of the official system, trained for renewal of hostilities by playing Camelot.

and chess with Jose Capablanca and then some contract at the Knickerbocker Whist Club. His young partner, Oswald Jacoby, former Columbia football player, devoted some thought to the offensive defense that he and Lenz have been displaying brilliantly. They do not hesitate to go set on hand after hand in the hope of winning rubber eventually, and Jacoby is usually the boy who does the heavy work in such situations. Culbertson had engagements for at least four lectures on his specialty between the conclusion of the tenth rubber of the 150-rubber match early Wednesday morning and the beginning of the eleventh rubber with the sixtieth deal tonight.

No Great Contrasts in Bidding. Lenz and Jacoby are 2075 points in the lead. "Officialites" and some neutrals have seen no fundamental contrasts in effectiveness of bidding systems, but the Culbertson camp has. It cites deal No. 55, the second hand of the tenth rubber, in which Jacoby contracted for four hearts and made seven. Through the honor trick valuation of the Culbertson system, say Culbertson followers, a mere tyro in the system would have bid a little slam.

The hand:

Neither side was vulnerable.

The bidding: West, pass; North, one club; East, pass; South, two hearts; West, pass; North, two spades; East, pass; South, three hearts; West, pass; North, four hearts, the contract.

Once a finesse from North in diamonds caught the king from East and it was a laydown for seven tricks. The grand slam should not have been bid because success depended on a finesse.

How Culbertson Would Do It. Here is how Culbertson would have bid the North and South cards: North, one club; South, two hearts; North, two spades; South, three hearts; North, five hearts; South, six hearts. The bidding would have indicated a combined honor.

Such bidding necessarily indicates the combined strength of the hands is at least seven honor tricks, which Culbertson calculates is in the slam zone. The main fault in the bidding of this hand in the match lay with Lenz, say Culbertson followers, because he failed to indicate that his hand was much stronger than the minimum requirements for an original bid of one.

One thing seems to have been settled—it is that Lenz and Jacoby and the Culbertsons, with few exceptions, would have arrived at the same contract on almost any of the 59 hands so far dealt, whatever system of bidding they used.

Shepard Barclay, who is a bridge master and a member of the advisory council of the official system used by Lenz and Jacoby, but who in the contest is trying to act as a neutral interpreter, has figured out that had the Culbertsons played the official system their total score would not be five points different from what it is, and had Lenz and Jacoby played the Culbertson system their lead would be about the same as the result of card holdings, effective play and tactics.

BANKRUPTCY SUIT IS FILED AGAINST ATHLETIC TEA CO.

Three Creditors Petition for Action; Officer of Firm Says Business Is Good.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court today against the Athletic Tea Co., 611 Chouteau avenue, by three creditors with claims totaling $565.

This action follows a receivership suit filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Harry de Cue, a former employee of the company who alleges it owes him $250. W. H. Schlangenhaut, secretary of the company, said after the receivership suit had been filed there was no occasion for such action, and that the company is doing a good business. An officer of the company declined to comment on the bankruptcy suit.

The bankruptcy suit was brought by Louis Schwarz, who claims the company owes him $248; the Merchants' Tire Co., with a claim of $17; and Peck Products Co., claiming $300.

TAKE SAL HEPATICA... and STOP living a half-awake LIFE!

HEALTH

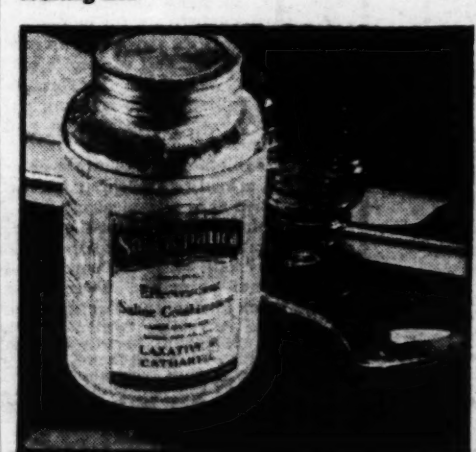

Life's no fun when you're only half-awake. If you really want to feel fine, sweep away the poisons and wastes—and your clean, poison-free blood will go coursing through your veins and give you a new pep and brightness. Keep internally clean with Sal Hepatica; you'll get a new pleasure out of life.

BEAUTY

Dull skin—dull eyes come from poisons in your system. Bright eyes, a clear, fresh skin, come naturally when you are internally clean! You have sparkle, life, charm—you are no longer a person half-awake. Start Sal Hepatica now! Note: Sal Hepatica is a great help in the reducing diet.

THE TRUTH ABOUT SALTS IN THE REDUCING DIET!

Salines are valuable to women seeking to reduce. But, of course, correct diet is the first essential. See your doctor, get the right program for you. The best medical opinion here and abroad highly recommends a dependable saline like Sal Hepatica as an aid in the reducing diet.

CONSTIPATION

Whenever you wake up in the morning with any of the symptoms of constipation—like 2 teaspoonfuls of Sal Hepatica in a glass of water. Promptly, gently the wastes that are clogging your system will be flushed away. You'll feel fine!

HEADACHE

To relieve the intestinal congestion which causes so many headaches, take a teaspoonful of Sal Hepatica in a large glassful of warm water and repeat this saline treatment in 15 minutes if not relieved. Sal Hepatica helps a lot.

COLDS

The very first step in clearing a cold is to flush out the system with 2 to 4 teaspoonfuls of Sal Hepatica in a large glassful of water. Then continue the use of Sal Hepatica each morning before breakfast to keep your system free of congestion.

BAD COMPLEXION

To keep the bloodstream clear of those impurities that so often cause blemishes and skin eruptions, take 1 teaspoonful of Sal Hepatica in a large glass of water upon arising—for a week, or as long as you may find it necessary.

RHEUMATISM

As an eliminant in rheumatism, flush out the system with 2 to 4 teaspoonfuls of Sal Hepatica in a glass of water. Keep free of poisons and acidity by taking 1 to 2 teaspoonfuls in a glass of water before each meal and retiring. It's a real aid.

Sal Hepatica will clear the poisons from your system—wake up your body—help you get the fun out of life!

When you feel dull and half-alive and out-of-sorts, and wonder why you can't get as much joy out of life as some people do—then it's high time to find out about Sal Hepatica.

You'll not feel any different until you've cleared the poisons and wastes from your system. You have to keep internally clean to know what zest and joy are!

Instead of wondering why you "don't feel very well"—instead of envying people who are having a good time—take a Saline Treatment with Sal Hepatica. Find out what it is to feel top-notch and get all the fun that's coming to you!

Today—go to a drug store and get a bottle of Sal Hepatica. First thing tomorrow morning, stir a teaspoon or so of Sal Hepatica salts into a glass of clear water—and drink down the sparkling mixture.

"Just another laxative"? Sal Hepatica? If you think that, you're wrong. Sal Hepatica is a carefully blended saline—Sal Hepatica contains the same salines as do the health springs at the European spas to which physicians send their wealthy patients who need to recover their health and vitality and good spirits.

Sal Hepatica does what no ordinary laxative can do—it cleans the bloodstream... flushes away the poisons. It tones up the system. It rids you of colds, rheumatism, headaches, digestive disorders, complexion blemishes. It never has a tendency to make its users stout. It wakes up the body to a new sense for the joy of existence! Get a bottle today.

JAPAN AND CHINA ACCEPT LEAGUE'S PEACE RESOLUTION WITH LIMITATIONS

Tokio Reserves Right to Take Action Against Bandits in Manchuria, While Nanking Emphasizes Sanctity of Treaties.

TEXT OF FORMULA GIVEN OUT IN PARIS

Plan Provides for Commission of Five and Admonishes Two Nations to Refrain From Further Initiative in the Field.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Dec. 10.—Japan and China today accepted the League of Nations peace resolution on the dispute in Manchuria. Both acceptances were with reservations.

Kentichi Yoshizawa reserved the Japanese right to take measures against bandits in Manchuria. Dr.
Alfred Sze stipulated that China
reserved "any and all rights, remedies and juridical positions" to which it is entitled under the League Covenant and under treaties
to which it is a party.

"China understands and expects,"
said Dr. Sze, "that the commission of inquiry in Manchuria will make its first duty to inquire into and report with recommendations on the withdrawal of Japanese forces
if such withdrawal has not been completed when the commission arrives on the ground."

Chairman Briand offered the resolution for a vote and, as no one opposed, declared it unanimously adopted.

He expressed appreciation for the assistance given by the American Government. "No matter how powerful a country may be, he said, it is not solitary, under the terms of the League Covenant and the Kellogg-Briand pact, that it can advantage over a neighbor
through military force."

"In no case," he said, "can any nation take into its own hands the settlement of a dispute with another."

Text of Resolution.
The text of the League Council resolution to adjust the Manchurian controversy is as follows:
"The Council first reaffirms the resolution passed unanimously by
it Sept. 20 whereby the two parties
declare they are solemnly bound.
It therefore calls upon the Chinese and Japanese governments to take all steps necessary to assure its execution so that the withdrawal of Japanese troops within the railway zone may be effected
as speedily as possible under conditions set forth in said resolution."

"Considering that events have assumed an even more serious aspect since the Council meeting of Oct. 24, the Council notes that the two parties undertake to adopt all measures necessary to avoid any further aggravation of the situation and to refrain from any initiative which may lead to further fighting and loss of life.

The Council invites the two parties to continue to keep it informed as to the development of the situation. It invites other members of the Council to furnish any information from their representatives on the spot.

"Without prejudice to the carrying out of the above-mentioned measures and desiring in view of the special circumstances of the case to contribute toward a final and fundamental solution by the two Governments of the questions
at issue, the Council has decided to appoint a commission of five members to study on the spot
and to report to the Council on any circumstances which, affecting international relations, threaten to disturb peace between China
and Japan or the good understanding between them on which peace depends."

"The Governments of China and Japan each will have the right to nominate one assessor to assist the commission. The two Governments will accept the commission all the facilities to obtain on the spot whatever information it may require."

Text of President's Message on War Debts and Foreign Relations

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The text of President Hoover's message to Congress asking for ratification
of his proposal for a one-year moratorium on inter-governmental debts follows:

With the support of a large majority of the individual members of the Senate and House, I informed the governments concerned
last June that—

The American Government
proposes the postponement during one year of all payments on inter-governmental debts, reparations and relief debts, both principal and interest; of course,
not including obligations of Governments held by private parties.

Subject to confirmation by Congress, the American Government will postpone all payments
upon the debts of foreign Governments to the American Government payable during the fiscal year beginning July 1 next,
conditional on a like postponement for one year of all payments on inter-governmental debts owing the important creditor Powers.

Repeats Former Statement.
In making this proposal, I also publicly stated:

"The purpose of this action is to give the forthcoming year to the economic recovery of the world
and to help free the recuperative forces already in motion in the United States from retarding influences from abroad."

"The world-wide depression has affected the countries of Europe
more severely than our own. Some of these countries are feeling to a serious extent the drain of this depression on national economy.
The fabric of inter-governmental debts, supportable in normal times, weighs heavily in the midst of this depression."

"From a variety of causes arising out of the depression, such as the fall in the price of foreign commodities and the lack of confidence in economic and political stability abroad, there is an abnormal movement of gold into the United States which is lowering the credit stability of many foreign countries. These and the other difficulties abroad diminish
the power of our exports and in a measure are the cause of our continued unemployment and continued lower prices to our farmers."

"Wise and timely action should contribute to relieve the pressure of these adverse forces in foreign countries and should assist the re-establishment of confidence
thus forwarding political peace and economic stability in the world."

"Authority of the President to deal with this problem is limited,
as this action must be supported by the Congress. In has been assured the cordial support of leading members of both parties in the Senate and the House."

"The essence of this proposition
is to give time to permit debtor Governments to recover their national prosperity. I am suggesting to the American people that they be wise creditors in their own interest and be good neighbors."

"I wish to take this occasion
also to frankly state my views upon our relations to German reparations and the debts owed to us
by the allied Governments of Europe. Our Government has not been a party to, or exerted any voice in determination of, reparation obligations. We purposely did not participate in either general repa-ration or the division of colonies or property."

"The repayment of debts due to us from the allies for the advance
for war and reconstruction were settled upon a basis not contingent upon German repa-ration or related thereto. Therefore, reparations is necessarily wholly a European problem with which we have no relation."

Opposed to Cancellation.
"I do not approve, in any remote sense of the cancellation of the debts to us. World confidence would not be enhanced by such action. None of our debtor nations have ever suggested it. But as the basis of the settlement of these debts was the capacity under normal conditions of the debtor to pay,
we should be consistent with our own policies and principles if we take into account the abnormal situation now existing in the world."

"I am sure the American people have no desire to attempt to extract any sum beyond the capacity of any debtor to pay, and it is our view that broad vision requires that our Government should recognize the situation as it exists."

"This course of action is entirely consistent with the policy which we have hitherto pursued. We are not involved in the discussion of strictly European problems, of which the payment of German reparations is one. It represents our willingness to make a contribution to the early restoration of world prosperity in which our own people have so deep an interest."

WAR DEBTS MUST BE REVISED IF REPARATIONS ARE, FRANCE TELLS U. S.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The French Government has formally notified the United States of its position that reparations revision must be accompanied by a comparative scaling down of war debts.
Ambassador Claudel of France, on instructions of the Paris Government, notified Secretary Stimson of the French attitude.

It was understood that French missions in other interacted countries also were instructed to advise nations to which they were accredited of the French position.

which is so necessary in the solution of this major question."

All Governments Accepted.
The important creditor Governments accepted this proposal.
The necessary agreements among them have been executed, and creditor Governments have foregone the receipt of payments due them since July 1, 1931.

The effect of this agreement was instantaneous. It will be drift toward general economic and has served to give time to the peoples of those countries to readjust their economic life. The action taken was necessary. I am confident it commends itself to the judgment of the American people.

Payments due to the United States Government from many countries, both on account of principal and interest, fall due on Dec.
15.

It is highly desirable that a law
should be enacted before that date authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, to postpone all payments due on account of debts owed
by foreign Governments to the United States Government during the year ending June 30, 1932, and to provide for their payment over a 10-year period, beginning July 1, 1932.

As we approach the new year it is clear that a number of the Governments indebted to us will be unable to meet further payments to us in full pending recovery in their economic life. It is useless to blind ourselves to an obvious fact.
Therefore it will be necessary in some cases to make still further temporary adjustments.

The Congress has shared with the executive in the past the consideration of questions arising from these debts. I am sure that it will commend itself to the Congress,
that the legislative branch of the Government should continue to share this responsibility.

In order that we should be in position to deal with the situation,
I recommend the recreation of the World War Foreign Debt Commission with authority to examine such problems as may arise in connection with these debts during the present economic emergency, and to report to the Congress its conclusions and recommendations.

Disarmament Conference.
The United States has accepted an invitation to take part in the world disarmament conference which convenes on Feb. 2 at Geneva. The efforts of this conference will be in line with the endeavors in which the American Government has taken a leading part beginning with The Hague conference in 1899.

Up to the present time the record of achievement has been almost entirely in the field of naval disarmament. It is to be hoped that further progress can be made in reduction of naval arms and that limitation and reduction so urgently needed can be extended to land arms.

The burden of taxes to support
armament is greater today than before the great war, and the economic instability of the world is definitely due in part to this cause
and the fears which these huge armaments at all times create. No discouragements should be permitted to turn the world from sane
and reasonable limitation of arms.

With a view to establishing an atmosphere of confidence for the opening of this world disarmament conference, more than 40 Governments, including all the principal military and naval Powers, have joined in accepting the principle of one year armaments truce.

This truce, which is the outgrowth of a proposal advanced last September by the Foreign Minister of Italy, is designed to prevent the expansion of armaments program
during the coming months in the hope of removing the threat of a sudden revival of competition in arms before and during the conference. These steps were fully approved by our War and Navy departments.

Concern Over Manchuria.
We have been deeply concerned
over the situation in Manchuria.
As parties to the Kellogg-Briand
pact and to the nine-Power treaty,
we have a responsibility in maintaining the integrity of China and a direct interest with other nations
in maintaining peace there.

When this controversy originated in September the League of Nations was in session and China appealed to the Council of that body
which at once undertook measures of conciliation between China and Japan. Both China and Japan have participated in the proceedings before the Council ever since.

Under the Kellogg-Briand pact
all of the signatories, including China and Japan, have covenanted to seek none but pacific means in the settlement of their disputes.
Thus the ultimate purpose and proceedings under this section of the Kellogg-Briand pact and of conciliation proceedings by the League covenant coincide.

It seemed, therefore, both wise
and appropriate rather to aid advice with the League and thus have unity of world effort to maintain peace than to take independent action.

In all negotiations, however, the Department of State has maintained complete freedom of judgment and action as to participation
in any measures which the League might finally be determined upon.

Immediately after the outbreak of the trouble this Government advised both Japan and China of its serious interest. Subsequently it communicated its views to both Governments regarding their obligations under the Kellogg-Briand pact.

In this action we were joined by other nations signatory of the pact.
This Government has consistently and repeatedly by diplomatic representations indicated its unremitting solicitude that these treaty obligations be respected.

In the recurring efforts of the nations to bring about a peaceful settlement this Government has realized that the exercise of the utmost patience was desirable, and it is believed that public opinion in this country has appreciated the wisdom of this restraint.

At present a resolution is pending before the meeting at Paris,
with hopes of passage, under which Japan and China will agree to take no initiative which might lead to renewed conflict; in which Japan has reiterated its intention to withdraw the Japanese troops to the railway zone as soon as lives and property of Japanese nationals in Manchuria can be adequately protected; and under which both nations

TALK OF SHAKEUP IN SENATE TO END MOSES DEADLOCK

Watson Eliminates Himself
as Compromise for President Pro Tem as G. O. P.
Leaders Confer.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, today eliminated himself as a compromise candidate for President pro tempore in the row over re-election of George Moses of New Hampshire, and began conferences looking to a settlement of the dispute, with a possible party organization shakeup.

Active consideration of a compromise candidate to replace Moses was started after three days of voting in silence ended with 13 Western Republicans still holding the Senate in a deadlock and a President pro tempore unelected. There were four ballots today.

As the bell sounded for adjournment over the week-end, the Democrats still were standing solidly
behind Key Pittman of Nevada, their candidate, and the regular group of Republicans formed an unwavering cordon about Moses.

The Western insurgents, as in the two preceding days, scattered their votes among several of their favorites.

No Senate struggle in recent history parallels the voting. Without a word of debate, the independents have conducted an unrelenting fight against Moses, who once dubbed them "the sons of the wild jackasses."

The movement to advance Watson as a compromise candidate included the advancement of Mcnary of Oregon to leader.

On the first roll call today the result was: Pittman, Democrat, 41; Moses, Republican, 29; Norris, Republican, 7; Jones, Republican, 6; Capper, Republican, 1.

There was no change from yesterday's balloting. Those voting for Norris were: Blaine and La Follette of Wisconsin; Cutting of New Mexico; Frazier and Nye of North Dakota; Howell of Nebraska, and Shipstead of Minnesota.

Those voting for Jones were:
Borah and Thomas of Idaho;
Brookhart of Iowa; Capper of Kansas; Couzens of Michigan; and Norris. Senator Jones voted for Capper.

All of those opposing Moses were Republicans except Shipstead, the Farmer-Labor member.

Democrats again voted solidly
for Pittman.

The second ballot showed the same result.

ALCALA ZAMORA ELECTED PRESIDENT OF SPAIN

National Assembly Places Farmer's Son at Head of Government; Ratifies Constitution.

By the Associated Press.
MADRID, Dec. 10.—Niceto Alcala Zamora, a farmer's son, was elected first Constitutional President of the Spanish republic, by vote of the National Assembly, tonight.

The election was by secret ballot.
Alcala Zamora got 362 votes in a possible 466.

Thus the man who is called the father of the republic and who served as Provisional President
after Alfonso XIII was overthrown, becomes the first, and probably the last President to be elected by this procedure. The new Constitution, adopted yesterday, provides that hereafter the President shall be elected by a body composed of members of the Assembly and electors chosen by the people in equal numbers.

LIVE FROGS USED AS CURRENCY IN BUSINESS DEAL

Britain Tells How Embargo on Money Exports Was Met
by His Company.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 10.—Sir George Beharrell, prominent industrialist,
yesterday described a business deal
that was put through with frogs used for money.

"One of the companies I am connected with had money in currency
in a certain foreign country and a complete embargo on forwarding money from that country was established," he said. By mere chance this company came in contact with a professor of anatomy
who was importing for vivisection purposes live frogs from this particular country and the change
was made from currency to frogs.

"Could anything illustrate more clearly the lengths to which business men have to go today in order to carry on?"

SENATE INQUIRY INTO FOREIGN BOND HOLDINGS VOTED

Johnson Proposal, to Learn How Many of Such Securities Have Been Sold
in U. S., Adopted.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The Senate today adopted without debate the Johnson resolution directing inquiry into the amount of foreign securities in this country.

The investigation was ordered as President Hoover's message on the one-year moratorium on intergovernmental debts was delivered in the Senate.

Senator Johnson, who is fighting the moratorium, called for the inquiry into foreign securities
as a part of his contest against the debt holiday.

The resolution directs the Senate Finance Committee to investigate the sale, flotation, and allocation by banks, banking institutions, corporations or individuals of foreign bonds or securities in the United States.

Johnson intends to have leading international bankers called. He has mentioned J. P. Morgan and Albert Wiggin.

Immediately after adoption of the Johnson proposal, Senator Smoot of Utah, the chairman of the Finance Committee, introduced a bill to ratify the Hoover moratorium.

More votes than necessary for ratification have been pledged Mr.
Hoover.

CHILEAN CONGRESS BOMBARDED WITH DRIED FISH AND ONIONS

Mob Wrecks Street Cars and Stores Windows Before It Is Repulsed by Police.

By the Associated Press.
SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 10.—A mob bombarded the Chilean Congress last night with dried fish, onions and other vegetables and crockery.

Unsuccessful in forcing the Congress to dissolve as demanded,
the mob retreated into the streets,
stoned and wrecked street cars and store windows and had begun to fire pistols when the streets were cleared by a rush of 1000 policemen. Several persons were injured and 20 were arrested.

The mob was driven away from its assault on the Congress Hall by a charge of 500 mounted policemen, who surrounded the building.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Mr. Hoover's Loan Plan.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE plan proposed by President Hoover to establish a system of loan discount banks to operate in conjunction with other banks, financial institutions, real estate companies and building and loan associations, will benefit only those agencies. It will aid them in securing more funds to lend under mortgage, for which the home owner must pay them a high rate of commission on money lent them by the Government through these agencies. The plan will help speculative builders erect and sell homes poorly constructed with cheap, non-union labor, at higher than the present prices to home purchasers who can make a small down payment, but the plan will be of no benefit to the prospective home owner who desires to build his home, for the following reasons:

1. If the Government is to make loans, it should not do so through the banks, financial agencies or building and loan associations. The banks have declared they will not lend money for home building until workmen's wages are reduced, and have shown no sign of wanting to revive home building, and for that reason they should be ignored. Banks acting as executors of estates where the heirs or beneficiaries want to build new while costs are low have turned a deaf ear to requests for money to construct new buildings. Some buildings retarded under this plan would cost large sums of money and would give employment to hundreds of men who need work badly at present. Therefore, all proposed building loans by the Government should be diverted from the banking institutions.

2. Financial companies and real estate agents have made building loans almost prohibitive by their excess commissions, and they have curtailed loans by appraising property at low values. They have made it almost impossible to secure a second mortgage, and when the costs of procuring one are paid, including 15 to 25 per cent commission, there is very little left for the home owner.

3. Building and loan associations will find it difficult or impossible to meet the standards laid down by the Federal Board and they may be barred from participation in this plan.

Aside from the above reasons, there still remains the fact that banks, financial agencies, real estate companies and building and loan associations have vigorously opposed the Government's embarking in any kind of business, especially the lending business, which may be substantiated if you care to examine the reports of the congressional committees which had before them the Federal Reserve bill, the Fitzgerald and other bills providing for loans by the Government to prospective home owners with privilege of long-time periods of repayment, and for other purposes. These bills, that would have benefited small home owners, were killed through the efforts of the banks, financial institutions, real estate companies and building and loan associations, so why should the Government make them agents for lending money to the same class? Of course, the commission off the home owner and make the financing more costly. The Government has plenty of Farm Loan and Federal Reserve banks to handle these matters, and make the loans direct, thus eliminating the charge for commission.

Under paragraph "F" of President Hoover's plan, it is evident that the majority of applications for loans will be made by owners of mortgaged improved property.

Under paragraph "C," no initial loans or direct mortgages will be made, which will not permit new building and destroy the benefit of the plan. Initial loans are the first consideration of a prospective home owner. Of course, it is intended only that these loans be made to purchase homes that have been built by speculators and investors, or to pay off mortgages. It is plain to see that banks, financial institutions and real estate companies approve this plan because it will enable them to get rid of a lot of cheap, poorly constructed homes to people who want to buy a home from speculators.

President Hoover has stated that he has consulted various groups granting credit on mortgage loans, and other economic agencies, but he evidently overlooked the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor, which has branches in hundreds of cities throughout the United States with practical knowledge of the advantages Government co-operation will be to the home builder, which might be incorporated in the proposed plan.

I repeat, there is nothing in the proposed plan that will benefit the prospective home builder or the organized building workman, or relieve unemployment.

W. CURTIS J. CASIDY,
Secretary, Building Trades Council.

Would Open Churches to the Poor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IS not the suggestion of someone that the churches of the country be thrown open to the poor and homeless a most excellent one? In St. Louis, there are many people living in miserable shacks along the river front and many who have not even that protection. Women, and little children are suffering in no place to sleep. The churches of St. Louis, many of them large and commodious, generally heated the week around, could easily accommodate all of these.

THE ADMINISTRATION TAX PLAN.

For the first time since the war era, a national administration has been forced to advocate an increase in Federal taxation, and the task is particularly painful because it occurs on the eve of a presidential year. The need for the move is beyond debate. So seriously did the depression cut into governmental revenues that the fiscal year 1931 showed a deficit of $302,000,000, which had to be met by increasing the national debt. The prospect for 1932 and 1933, unless taxation is revised, is considerably worse, and Messrs. Hoover and Mellon have grimly applied themselves to the task of balancing the budget.

Without doubt, the outstanding feature of Mr. Mellon's income tax suggestion is the lowering of the exemptions to add 1,700,000 taxpayers to the fold. Under the present law, taxation does not begin until income reaches $1500 for single men and $3500 for married men; the new proposal is to reduce these figures to $1000 and $2500, respectively. That Mr. Mellon would make such a change if the occasion ever arose has long been foretold. He has frequently advocated broadening the income tax base, and, as recently as last June, made a radio address on the subject, in which he pointed out that, of a total population of 120,000,000, only about 2,500,000 pay income tax.

The obvious response to this fact is that the tax is properly limited to those whose income is sufficient to create a surplus above the bare necessities of living; moreover, that Mr. Mellon's figures indicate an alarming concentration of wealth in the United States. Senator Borah remarked that to lower income tax exemptions was tantamount to a reduction of wages, against which the administration was pledged, and others voiced the opinion that the Secretary's figures proved the need for an increase in the higher brackets of the tax.

An examination of the taxes that would have to be paid under the administration's proposal shows the percentage of increase on small incomes greater than on large ones. For example, on a $4000 income a married man with one dependent would face a 1360 per cent increase, while the man with a $500,000 income would bear an increase of only 73 per cent. While intermediate incomes show percentage comparisons less wide, to reach out for a slice of 1,700,000 small incomes at this time is a daring performance sure to arouse bitter opposition in Congress.

A whole sheaf of so-called nuisance taxes is proposed, harking back to the revenue act of 1924. Cigarettes, already heavily levied upon, are asked to pay more; theater admissions, with an exemption of only 10 cents as against 50 cents in the 1924 law, are singled out; the 5 per cent tax on automobile sales is suggested for restoration; taxes are suggested for long distance telephone calls, and telegraph, cable and radio messages. Perhaps the most unusual suggestion is for a 2-cent stamp tax on checks and drafts. There is also a proposal to raise $150,000,000 by an increase in postal rates, without specification as to what branches of the service shall put it in effect. This surpasses even Postmaster-General Brown's plan to raise about $100,000,000 by a 3-cent letter rate, and passes over entirely the possibility of postal economies.

Several significant omissions from Mr. Mellon's plan are noted. He has refrained from suggesting a general sales tax, proposed by Senator Reed, the Secretary's senatorial mouthpiece, some months ago. The proposal was so generally attacked that the administration dropped it like a hot cake. There is no mention in the plan of a revival of the excess profits tax, which proved so large a revenue producer during the war, or of the gift tax, absence of which permits many large fortunes to escape inheritance taxes.

It is an ironic comment on the Treasury's present plight that, so short a time ago as December, 1929, following the stock market crash, the administration fostered and Congress passed a bill providing for a 1 per cent reduction on individual and corporation incomes, depriving the Government of $160,000,000 in revenue. That cut was made in a vain effort to mitigate the effect of the market crash, and in accordance with Mr. Mellon's now exploded theory that business would be good in 1930. Seen in the light of today, that was a piece of financial opportunism unworthy of the Government, and it increases the hardships the country now staggers under.

The total estimated yield of additional taxes for the year and a half of their effectiveness is $1,210,000,000. It is difficult to refrain from mentioning that a very large part, if not all of this sum, would be realizable from liquor taxes, assuming the non-existence of the eighteenth amendment. Prior to prohibition, in 1913, taxes on alcoholic beverages amounted to something like $450,000,000 per annum and would undoubtedly have provided a far greater total today.

Congress, which liberally rewrote Mr. Mellon's tax suggestions in 1924, may be expected to do so again. With the lower house in control of the Democrats and the balance of power in the upper house in the hands of Republican insurgents, there will be no docile acceptance of the Mellon plan. In revising it, Congress has the great opportunity of using the power of taxation, not only to meet the Government's instant financial emergency, but to ameliorate the conditions caused by the concentration of wealth. It can substitute for Mr. Mellon's Bourbon philosophy of taxation one which recognizes the principles of economic justice.

BUSES REPLACE STREET CARS.

A significant experiment in transportation is being made in St. Louis, where a new, modern bus line has been installed in place of street cars on Gravois avenue, a principal artery connecting the downtown section with an important outlying district.

For this service, the Public Service Co. has purchased 15 buses of the latest type, with comfortable leather upholstered seats for 40 passengers. They run on pneumatic tires, of course, and special equipment is said to prevent exhaust fumes entering the buses at any time. Powerful engines give quick acceleration and provide for fast schedules. The scheduled time from Ninth and Chestnut street to Grand boulevard is 13 minutes. The coach bodies are of steel and the windows of safety glass.

The company proposes to maintain frequent service with these buses. They are to be spaced at three-minute intervals during rush hours and five-minute intervals the rest of the day.

The investment in new buses is $165,000, considerably less than it would have cost the company for the reconstruction of tracks and paving work made necessary by the widening of Gravois.

An advantage claimed by the company for the buses is that they take on and discharge passengers at the curb. This is a safety feature. On wide, well-paved streets, automobiles travel in a constant stream at high speed, and there is too much reckless driving. Several persons have been killed recently in safety zones while waiting for street cars. In the most recent instance, a few days ago, two persons lost their lives when run down by a truck.

The bus experiment on Gravois is interesting and may help point the way to solution of the transit problem. It is the first time St. Louisans who use mass transportation facilities have had the opportunity to pass judgment on a modern bus service.

REFORM AT LAST.

The House of Representatives made national history on the first day of its deliberations when it voted to liberalize the rules that had bound it for so many years. After the dethronement of "Czar" Cannon, it took 21 years to shake off the "Iron Triumvirate" which succeeded him as overlord of the chamber. Without an election upset that placed the Democrats in power, such a vote as 402 to 7 in favor of the reform would have been inconceivable. Democrats, remembering their long and hitherto vain fight, voted for the revision. Republicans, fearing they would suffer the repression their former leaders had imposed upon the minority, and eager to get on the band wagon to save their records, did the same.

A diaphanous heard when Representative Beck of Pennsylvania asserted that empowering House members to discharge dilatory committees would "intimidate" them and prevent their giving proper attention to business. On the contrary, it will expedite their work. A committee that gives prompt attention to the bills entrusted to its consideration, as all should do, has nothing to fear. A committee that pigeonholes measures to which there is objection will speedily find what the new rule means. And a chairman will no longer be able to strangle a bill by filing it in his pocket, since his committee, by majority vote, can transact business without him.

Having made possible a renewal of its constitutional function as the people's mouthpiece, where bills will have a chance for discussion and early decision, the House can now make valuable a freedom it has not possessed for many years.

IF HISTORY REPEATS.

Messrs. Braden and Rickey continue their practice of knocking local fandom for what we may vulgarly term a series of loops. Trading Burleigh Grimes, following two years of brilliant pitching, breaks a lot of hearts and opens old resentments. As when Rogers Hornsby went down the river, and old Alexander was quietly shipped, the Cardinal Farm Board is being accused of gross ingratitude and lack of sentiment, not to mention other high crimes and misdemeanors. But there is one note in the old choruses lacking in the present one. Few now have the hardihood to question the baseball judgment of the Cardinal management. Messrs. Braden and Rickey have been uncannily correct in that respect. Pepper Martin's sensational performance in center field during the world series, following the disposal of the old favorite, Douthitt, laid the last doubt as to their sagacity.

If history repeats itself, 1932 will write finis to Burleigh's great career, while Teachout will develop into another Hallahan and Hack Wilson's comeback will cause William Wrigley Jr. and Rogers Hornsby to pile ashes upon their anguished heads.

THE FAILURE OF PUBLIC UTILITY REGULATION.

Again City Counselor Muench calls attention to the failure of public regulation of public service corporations. This time, in an address before the League of Women Voters, he says the consequence is a change of sentiment in favor of public ownership and operation of utilities.

The City Counselor has gone through many long and costly fights in behalf of lower rates for the public, but always the property right conferred by franchise has risen up to confound him. The courts have held that this property right must be protected by "reasonable return on fair value," and that "fair value" must be present value, taking into account the cost to reproduce and various intangible items, such as "going value."

Behind these constructions of the law, the utilities are enabled to resort to interminable delay and to pile up tremendous costs, which always are charged against the public in the rates.

Mr. Muench now says:

Under the rule... there is nothing the Public Service Commission can do, when an application for a change in rates is presented, but embark upon a tedious and tremendously expensive valuation hearing to determine the present fair value of the utility's property. The cost in one of these cases ran far over $500,000, and this, of course, is charged back to the consumer in his rates.

Now Mr. Muench sees the beginning of a change for the better. He believes the public will develop a higher community spirit and learn to think of public affairs as citizens and not as bystanders. His further expectation is significantly stated:

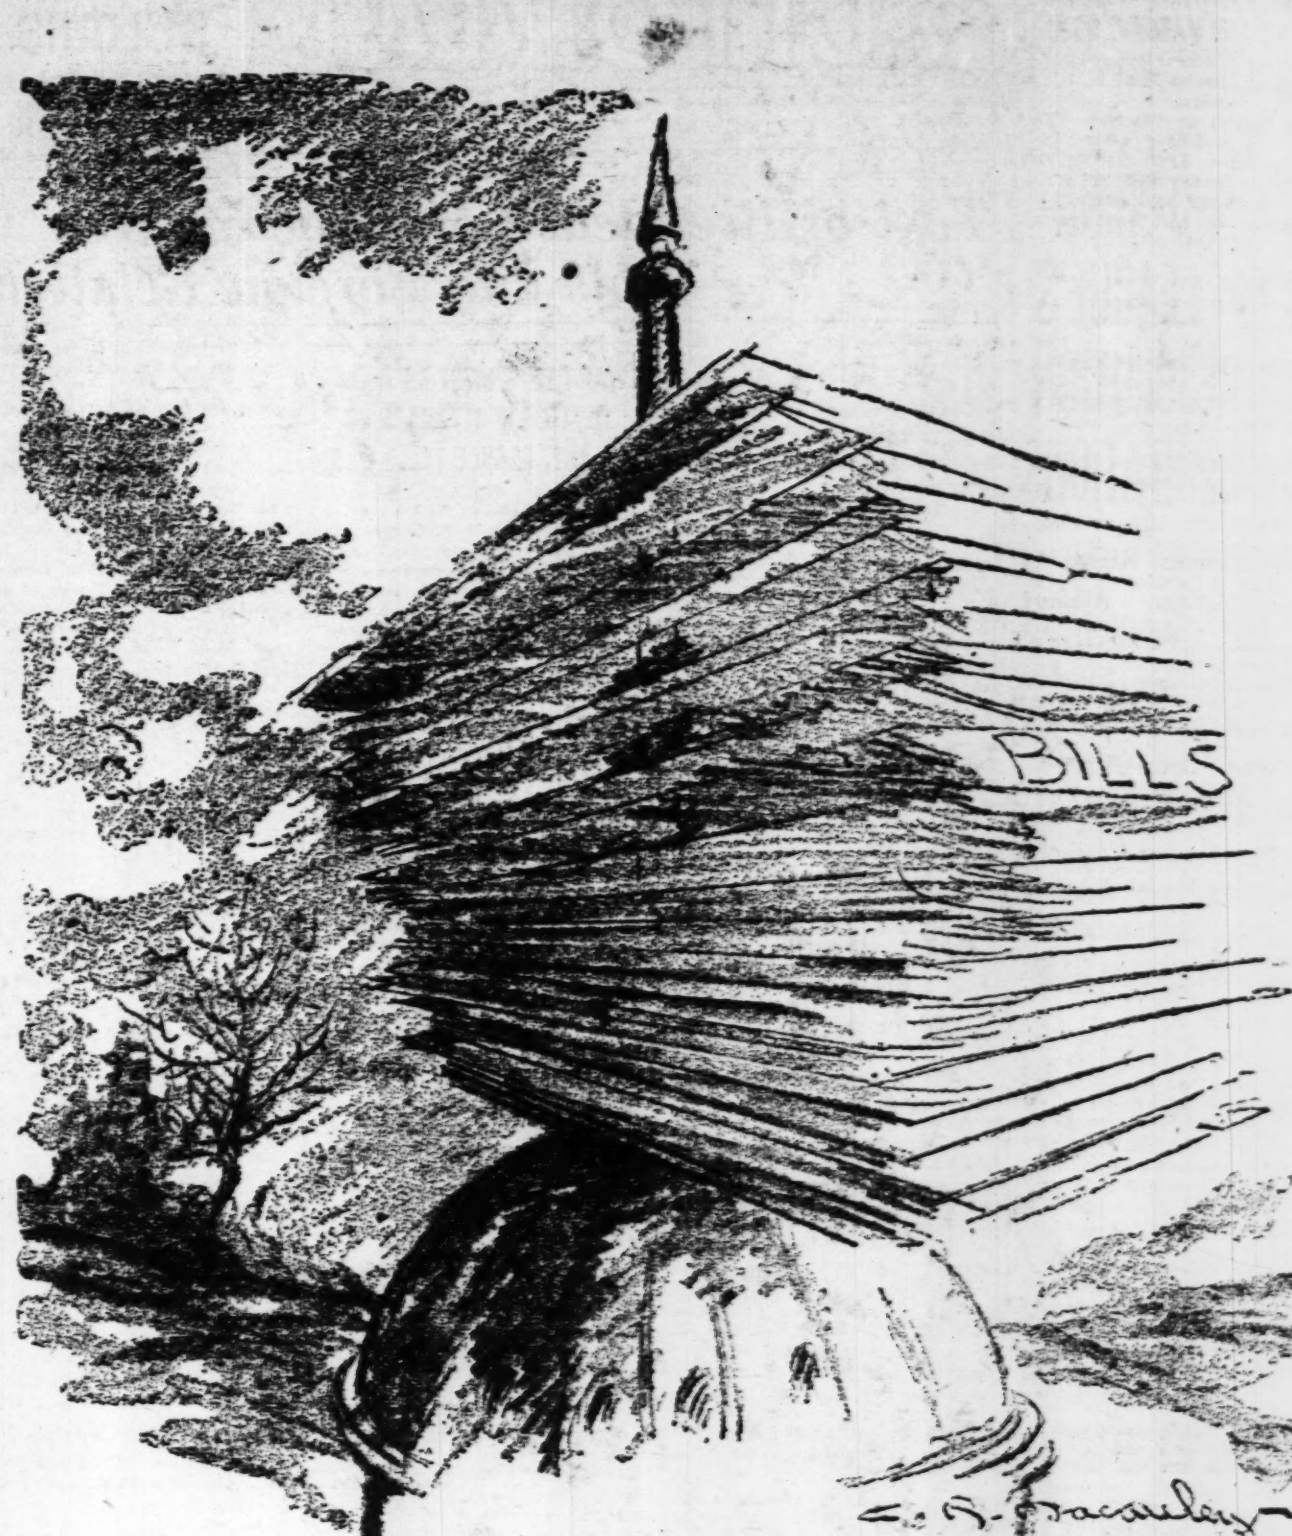

And when that time comes, there is no reason why we should not take over the management of all utility services, just as we have long ago taken over the construction and maintenance of highways, sewers, street lighting systems and other services.

Mr. Muench knows what he is talking about.

A LETTER TO SANTA.

Dear Santa Claus: I am a little German boy, 42 years old, and I am writing to tell you what I want for Christmas. I am getting tired of playing with my toy soldiers, just marching them around and never really getting anywhere, especially since they mustn't wear their pretty uniforms any more. So I want a ship this Christmas—a dictatorship. I have wanted one for a long while now, and don't you think it is about time I was getting it? I have been a good boy, Santa dear, and if you bring me this present, I promise to be an even better one. I had it put in all the papers the other day what a good boy I would be, so you and all the neighbors would see it. I will admit I don't like some of the neighbors, but I will be nice to them if you bring me that swell present. Someone may have told you I wanted to kick Papa von Hindenburg out of the house, but there is nothing to it. In fact, I have promised to help him with the chores all I can. I know the family has a lot of big bills, and I am going to help pay part of them, too. I think I am big enough to have a dictatorship, and I would certainly have a lot of fun with it. If you are too busy to put it in my stocking Christmas eve, I can wait for it, till spring, if I have to. If you heard I was going to take his away from the little Bruening boy in Berlin, then somebody would be sorry for me. I will just sit and wait until you bring it to me, Santa, and I hope it will be soon. Hopefully yours,

ADOLF HITLER.

Great Men Make Their Age Great

Every major epoch of history has its great man, such as Socrates, Voltaire or Shakespeare; his record sounds the keynote of his age; his ideas multiply, and dictate the atmosphere of the period; he may stimulate life, or he may wreck his sector of society; yet these geniuses paradoxically hold themselves aloof from their times.

From "A Cultural History of the Modern Age," by Egon Friedell (Reprinted by Permission of the Publisher, Alfred A. Knopf.)

THE real key of an age we find in those great men, those strange apparitions, that Carlyle called heroes. They might equally well be called poets, if we did not so-sidedly regard a poet as a person who dabbles in pen and ink, but remembered that everything can be turned into poetry, given creative force and imagination; and that the great heroes and saints who have made poetry with their lives of deeds and sufferings stand actually higher than the poet of words.

Now, genius and the age are in account with each other in a complicated way, not easy to decipher. An age which does not find its hero is a pathological case.

Geniuses are the two or three men in every age who can speak. (The rest are dumb, or stammerers.) Without these, we should know nothing of past ages, for we should merely have hieroglyphics which confused and disappointed us. We need a key to this cipher. Gerhard Hauptmann once compared the poet with an aeolian harp, which vibrates to every lightest breeze. If we adopt this comparison we may say: At bottom every person is an instrument of this kind with sensitive strings, but in most cases the impact of events merely sets the strings quivering; it is only from the poet that notes are produced for all to hear and understand.

For a particular section of man's spiritual history to be perpetuated in a lasting picture, it seems that one man only is necessary, but that one is indispensable. For the age of enlightenment, a Socrates sufficed in Greece; a Voltaire in France; a Lessing in Germany; for the English Renaissance, a Shakespeare; and for our own time, a Nietzsche. In such men the whole age is objective as itself, as in an illuminating cross-section that everyone can grasp. The genius is no other than the concentrated formula, the compressed compendium, the easily handled cue—brief, concise, intelligible and comprehensive—to the desires and achievements of all his contemporaries. He is the strong extract, the clear distillation, the pungent essence which they yield; it is of them he is made. Take it away, and nothing of him would be left; he would dissolve into air. The great man is entirely the creature of his age, and the greater he is, the more is this the case.

But who, then, are these contemporaries? Who makes them contemporaries, attaches them to a particular limited section of history, endows them with a specific world-view, a definite life-atmosphere—in short, a style of their own? Who but "the poet"? It is he who molds their vital form and cuts the block from which, whether they are conscious of it or not, they are all printed. He multiplies himself mysteriously and thousandfold. Others walk, stand, sit, think, hate or love according to his directives. He alters our standard expressions of courtesy and our feeling for nature; our hairdressing, our religiousness, our punctuality, our erotic; that which is most sacred and that which is most trivial. His whole age is infected by him. He penetrates irresistibly into our blood, splits our molecules and tyrannically creates new connections. We speak his language, use his idiom, and a casual phrase from his mouth becomes a unifying watchword which men call to one another in the night.

Streets and woods, churches and ballrooms, are peopled suddenly, none knows how, with innumerable miniature copies of Werther, Byron, Napoleon, Obiémov, Hajmar. The meadows change their hue, trees and clouds take on new shapes, men's looks, gestures and voices a new accent. Women become bluestocking after Mollere's recipe, or the lowest of the low according to Strindberg's vision; broad-hipped and full-bodied because Rubens at his lonely easel so willed it, slender and anemic because Rossetti and Burne-Jones carried this picture of them in their heads. It is not by any means correct that the artist depicts reality; on the contrary, it is reality that runs after him. It may seem a paradox, as Oscar Wilde says, but it is none the less true that life imitates art far more than art imitates life.

No one can resist these wizards. They give us wings and they cripple us. Intercasts and sober us. All the remedies and toxins in the world are in their possession. Life springs up where they tread and everything becomes stronger and healthier, "finds itself." This indeed, is their greatest good deed: that they enable men to find and come into contact with the moment they

But they also bring sickness and death. They unleash in many souls the latent foolishness that might otherwise have slept on forever. Also, they stir up wars, revolutions, social earthquakes. They behead kings, prepare battlefields, sting nations to duels. A good-humored elderly gentleman named Socrates kills time with aphorisms; an equally good-humored countryman of his named Plato makes a series of entertaining dialogues out of them; and libraries pile up, are burned at the stake, are burned as waste paper; new libraries are written and a hundred thousand heads and stomachs live on the name Plato. A high-down journalist named Rousseau writes a couple of bizarre pamphlets, and the six years a highly gifted people team itself to pieces. A stay-at-home scholar named Marx, indifferent to and ignored by society, writes a few fat volumes of unintelligible philosophy, and a gigantic empire alters its whole conditions of life from the base upward.

In short, the age is absolutely and entirely the creation of its great man. The more this is so, the greater it is, and the more completely and ripely will it fulfill its destiny.

But what, now, is this genius? An exotic man, a paradox made flesh, an arsenal of extravagances, whims and perversities; a fool like the rest, nay, more so because more of a man than they are; a pathological freak, profoundly alien to the whole swirl below him; a stranger, too, to himself, for there is no possible bridge between himself and his ambience. The great man is the great solitary, and what constitutes his greatness is precisely that: that he is unique, a psychosis, a completely unrelated and unrepeatable singular. He has nothing to do with his time, and his time nothing to do with him.

History of a Bureau

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.

ANCIENT gaffers whose memories run all the way back to the year 1914 may survey a perfect specimen of the history of a Government bureau in the story of the United States Tariff Commission.

In 1916, nobody was in a mood for foolishness about the tariff or anything else. In 1916, we were spinning on the edge of the vortex, every moment drawing nearer to the plunge. We were torn by internal dissensions, apprehensive of the future, appalled by the holocaust into which we were being drawn. A presidential campaign was on, but it was no time to talk frankly of serious politics. It would have been indecorous to debate even the tariff from a purely partisan standpoint.

In these circumstances, the Tariff Commission was set up for the avowed purpose of taking the tariff out of politics. It was to be a severely scientific body, made up of hard-boiled economists tied by no party strings, who would regulate the tariff with an eye single to the interests of the country. The tariff thereafter was not to serve as a basis of political oratory from the hustings. It was to be regulated with serene detachment, and poets on the Tariff Commission were to be reserved for those economists who had won great distinction, somewhat as a poet on the Supreme Court is reserved as the highest reward of eminent lawyer.

That was in 1916. This is 1931. Now the President has appointed a new chairman of the Tariff Commission, who is identified as having been for the last three years "president of the Middlesex Club," a leading Republican organization of New England.

From the ideals of austere science to the ideals of a president of a Republican club—such is the progress of the Tariff Commission in 15 years. It is not surprising to learn, further, that the other vacancy, the one left by the death of Alfred R. Dennis, which must go to a titular Democrat, will probably be offered either to former Senator Simmons of North Carolina, or to former Senator Steck of Iowa. From a judicial body wholly aloof from politics is a lame duck's root—is this not typical of the development of a bureau?

HONOR FOR MARGARET SANGER.

From the New York Herald Tribune.

MRS. MARGARET SANGER, founder of the Birth Control League, has been awarded the annual medal of the American Woman's Association, which cites her for the qualities of "vision, integrity and valor." Mrs. Sanger deserves this honor; she deserves more honors than a world against whose darkness of mind she has fought bravely and consistently for 20 years is ever likely to give her. Mrs. Sanger has carved, almost single-handed and in the face of every variety of persecution, a path through the densest jungle of human ignorance and stupidity. She has been many times arrested, assailed and covered with mud—which remains perhaps the most substantial tribute to her pioneering genius. Pretty nearly everything and everyone has been against her—pulpits and legislatures and newspapers, public men and private citizens, and whole regiments of the prejudices, fears, bogies and dragons that still infest the mind of civilized man.

But such is the common sense of what she has been saying, and so great the courage and conviction of her way of saying it, that people have at last begun to listen and believe. Her victory is not by any means complete, but the dragons are on the run.

A Christian Science service of passages from the Bible and "Science and Health" was read by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Moore, the former being Mrs. Howard's neighbor. Money urged those attending, not of sorrow, but of thankfulness for the life which was being commemorated. Hymns were sung and religious airs were played during the short service. The body was placed in Valhalla Mausoleum, where the exercises were for the family only. Mr. Howard, former president of the Commonwealth Steel Co., died Sunday in Boston.

DUKE OF MANCHESTER

IN U. S. TO WED AGAIN

Divorced by Wife as He Goes

to Cuba, He Now Will Marry Actress.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The Duke of Manchester, divorced by his American wife while he was going to Cuba to obtain freedom

from her, reached New York last night with his fiancée, Miss Kathleen Dawes, announcing he planned to marry her at once.

"We will be married in New York," the 54-year-old titled

Briton said, "whenever certified

copies of the divorce decree arrive."

The Duchess, the former Helena

Zimmerman, Cincinnati, O., obtained a decree last May. The Duke sailed Dec. 2. His wife's decree became absolute two days ago, while the liner Berengaria,

fighting terrific winter storms, was bearing him, nearly two days late,

to this port.

Miss Dawes, formerly a London

actress, attracted more attention

when the steamer docked than did the Duke. She proved to be a slender, handsome young woman,

and the Duke said he had known her "a long, long time." She was accompanying him on the voyage by a party of English friends.

William Angus Broco Montagu,

otherwise the ninth Duke of Manchester and the Duchess have two sons and two daughters. They were married in 1900 and have been in marital troubles for years.

Actions for separation and divorce

were brought in 1915, 1921 and 1925.

He peatedly was reported in financial difficulties, although he has a trust fortune of more than

$1,000,000 established by his mother. In 1918, 66 petitions in bankruptcy were filed against him in English courts.

When Eugene Zimmerman, father of the Duchess, died in 1915, he left his $10,000,000 estate in trust

for the benefit of his daughter and the children.

Regarding his mine holdings in Quebec, 45 miles from the town of Amos, the Duke told reporters who met him at the pier: "I've found

all the gold I can ever use, if I can get it out of the ground."

He could not recall how many times he had crossed the Atlantic,

he said, since his first trip in 1882.

"At that time," he smiled, "New York was a very funny place and I was met at the pier by my godfather, W. K. Vanderbilt, with a team of trotting horses and a sleigh."

Since his wife already has obtained a divorce, the Duke has abandoned his trip to Cuba.

Text of Foreign Relations Message

tions agree to a neutral commission to meet on the ground, to which commission all matters in dispute can be referred for investigation and report.

St. Lawrence Waterway.

Conversations were begun between the Secretary of State and the Canadian Minister at Washington on Nov. 14 looking to the framing of a treaty for the development of the St. Lawrence waterway. The negotiations are continuing.

I am hopeful that an agreement may result within a reasonable time enabling us to begin work on this great project, which will be of much importance economically to Canada and to the United States.

Laval and Grandi Visits.

The President of the Council of Ministers of France, M. Laval, visited Washington in October in connection with a discussion of the development of the St. Lawrence waterway. The negotiations are continuing.

The informal and cordial conversations served to bring into relief the respective positions of the two nations.

The visit in November of the Royal Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs also afforded an opportunity for a cordial exchange of views respecting the many world problems in which this Government and the Government of Italy are interested.

It was not the purpose of these meetings to engage in any commitments or to conclude agreements. However, the visits of M. Laval and Signor Grandi, together with the various meetings of statesmen in Europe and the visit of the Secretary of State to European countries, have brought about valuable understanding of the nature of the problems confronting different Governments which should aid in their solution.

Nicaraguan Elections.

In compliance with the agreement made in May, 1927, the Nicaraguan Government requested supervision by an electoral commission from the United States of the congressional elections held in 1930.

This year a member of the commissions of 1923 and 1930 was sent to Nicaragua as an observer during the election of the National Assembly in order that, on the basis of his observations, it might be possible to arrange the many necessary details of the supervision of the 1932 presidential election in Nicaragua.

Armed forces of the United States maintained in Nicaragua have been reduced to the minimum deemed necessary to the training of the Nicaraguan constabulary and the rendering of appropriate support for such instruction. It is proposed to withdraw completely American armed forces from Nicaragua after their presidential election in 1932.

Nicaragua suffered a terrible disaster in the destruction of Managua, the capital, by earthquake and fire in March last. With their usual generosity, the American people, through the Red Cross, went wholeheartedly to the assistance of the stricken country.

United States Marines and engineers of the War Department, who were in the country making a survey of the proposed canal route, joined in rendering service.

The American Legation building was destroyed with all its contents, but the Minister and his staff continued to carry on their official duties and worked ceaselessly in the face of unusual hardships. The Nicaraguan Government has expressed its deep gratitude for the aid rendered.

Withdrawal From Haiti.

Substantial progress has been made in carrying out the program for the withdrawal of our activities in Haiti recommended by the commission, which, with the support of the Congress, made an investigation of the situation in Haiti and by its good offices laid the foundation for the present popularly-elected Government of that republic.

After protracted negotiations an accord was reached with the Haitian Government on Aug. 5 providing for the return to Haitian control of important Government services heretofore carried on under American supervision by virtue of general obligations arising through the provisions of our treaty with Haiti.

In accordance with this agreement the Haitian Government on Oct. 1 assumed definitely the administration and control of the Department of Public Works, the sanitary service, and the technical service of agriculture, which includes the industrial educational system. All American personnel was withdrawn from these services. To minimize the possibility of epidemics, and in order that the health of the American troops and officials still stationed in Haiti might be adequately protected, the accord provided that an American scientific mission, consisting of three American naval officers and six hospital corps men, should be charged with the control of sanitation in the cities of Port au Prince and Cape Haitien.

The accord makes appropriate provision for the continuance of adequate financial control and assistance on the part of our Government. The liberty of action of both of the Government of the United States and the Government of Haiti with respect to questions of financial administration, is, of course, limited.

In this connection it must be borne in mind that investors have supplied capital desired by Haiti and that securities have been issued to them on the faith and credit of the provisions of that treaty and the American financial control which it provided during the life of the bonds.

Bolivia and Paraguay.

In 1929 the Government of the United States, together with the Governments of Cuba, Colombia, Mexico and Uruguay, formed the commission on inquiry and conciliation, Bolivia-Paraguay, which had the good fortune of being able to terminate an international incident which for a time threatened to cause war between the countries involved.

The five neutral Governments then offered their good offices to Bolivia and Paraguay, with a view to furthering a settlement of their difficulties. This offer was accepted in principle. I am happy to state that representatives of both countries are now meeting in Washington with the hope of concluding a pact of nonaggression between them.

Boundary Dispute.

It has been the privilege of this Government to lend its good offices to several occasions in the past to the settlement of boundary disputes between the American republics. One of the most recent occasions upon which the disinterested services of this Government were requested was in connection with the settlement of the dispute which for almost a century has been outstanding between the Republics of Guatemala and Honduras with respect to their common boundary.

Conference extending over a period of some months were held in 1930 in the Department of State, and eventually on July 16, 1930, a treaty was signed submitting the question to arbitration, and there was also signed a supplementary convention providing for the delimitation of the boundary after the arbitral tribunal hands down its award. Ratifications were exchanged on October 15, 1931.

The tribunal, which will meet in Washington, will be presided over by the Chief Justice of the United States, who has set Dec. 15, 1931, as the date for the first meeting.

Claims Against Mexico.

The period for hearings before the general and special claims commissions between this country and Mexico expired in August, 1931. Pursuant to a resolution of the Senate under date of Feb. 23, 1931, and under instructions from the Department of State, the American Ambassador at Mexico City is carrying on negotiations with the Mexican Government looking to the renewal of the activities of the commissions, in order that the claims of American citizens still pending may be heard and adjudicated.

The Governments of the United States and Mexico have approved in principle certain engineering plans submitted by the International Boundary Commission, United States and Mexico, for the rectification of the Rio Grande in the vicinity of El Paso, Tex., to prevent periodical floods in that region.

Negotiations are being carried on between the two Governments in an effort to reach an agreement by which this important international project may be undertaken.

World Court Adherence.

There have been transmitted to the Senate, from time to time, treaties and conventions which have failed during recent sessions to obtain that body's consideration or final decision.

Inasmuch as these treaties affect numerous phases of private and public endeavor, I earnestly commend their early conclusion to the attention of the Congress.

In the past session of the Congress I transmitted to the Senate protocols providing for adherence by the United States to the permanent court of international justice. Upon that occasion I expressed my views fully not only of the wisdom of such action, but that the safeguards against European entanglements stipulated for by the Senate has been in effect secured for the withdrawal of our activities in Haiti recommended by the commission, which, with the support of the Congress, made an investigation of the situation in Haiti and by its good offices laid the foundation for the present popularly-elected Government of that republic.

Other Foreign Problems.

By consideration of legislation during its last session, the Congress informed its merits of the copyright convention signed at Berlin on Nov. 13, 1908. I hope that necessary legislation will be enacted during this Congress which will make it possible for further consideration to be given to the copyright convention.

The Sockeye salmon fisheries treaty, entered into with Canada, to afford protection to the industry, which was signed on May 26, 1930, merits the attention of the Senate during the present session.

The United States sent a delegation to the conference on safety of life at sea, which was held in London in 1929. The convention, which was signed by the more important maritime nations of the world on May 31, 1929, has united the standards of safety in accordance with modern developments of engineering science and in compliance with the Government's obligation to their citizens to reduce the perils of travel to a minimum by requiring high efficiency in seamanship.

The convention for the supervision of the international trade in arms and ammunition and in implements of war, signed at Geneva, June 17, 1925, represents another of the steps taken in the general field of restriction of armaments. It has been ratified unconditionally by some nations, conditionally by others.

With the added impetus which ratification by the United States would lend to such a move, it is quite possible that the 14 ratifications necessary by treaty stipulation would be received to bring the convention into force.

Among the other treaties and conventions which remain before the Senate for its consideration and of no less importance in their respective fields are a treaty regarding consular agents of American states (sixth international conference of American states, Havana, 1928); a treaty relating to maritime neutrality with American states (sixth international conference of American states, Havana, 1928); the general treaty of international arbitration, signed on the same date for the amelioration of the condition of the wounded and sick of armies in the field (the Red Cross convention); and the convention for the unification of certain rules relating to bills of lading for the carriage of goods by sea, signed at Brussels on behalf of the United States on June 23, 1925.

Since my message to the Seventy-second Congress and by virtue of the power vested in the office of the chief executive, I have continued to commission representatives of this Government to negotiate the treaties and conventions of the countries which affect the amicable, political, commercial and juridical relations of this country, as well as treaties dealing with humanitarian matters.

Dispossession of the Senate of the treaties which have been signed recently by representatives of this Government are as follows:

1. Treaty of arbitration and conciliation with Switzerland, signed Feb. 16, 1931.

2. Treaty modifying the conciliation convention with Italy (Bryan peace treaty), signed Sept. 23, 1931.

3. Extradition treaty with Greece, signed May 6, 1931.

4. Protocol relating to military obligations in certain cases of double nationality, multilateral, signed Dec. 31, 1930.

5. Treaty of friendship, commerce and consular rights with Poland, signed June 15, 1931.

6. Treaty with reference to establishment and sojourn with Turkey, signed Oct. 28, 1931.

These treaties and conventions will be transmitted to the Senate in due course, with a view to obtaining its advice and consent to ratification.

HERBERT HOOVER.

'HOOVER ALSO APPLIES TAX SCREW,' BERLIN PAPER SAYS

Headline in Nationalist Organ in Speech.

By the Associated Press. 10.—German newspapers published only short excerpts of President Hoover's message to Congress and did not comment on it.

"Hoover Also Applies Tax Screw," was the headline over the report of the President's message in the Nationalist organ, Der Tag.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Accounts of President Hoover's message to Congress received large headlines in London's newspapers, but there was little comment.

The News-Chronicle, anti-labor organ, said a deficit and unemployment in the United States proved the utter uselessness of a tariff as a remedy for unemployment and furnished absolute proof of the impossibility nowadays of economic isolation. "If the richest nation in the world cannot live to itself, no nation can," the News-Chronicle said. "All must suffer together."

Banker, 89, Acquitted.

By the Associated Press. 10.—Henry Denhart, former banker of Washington, Ill., was acquitted yesterday of violating the State banking laws but his 70-year-old associate and former cashier, H. A. Kingsbury, was convicted. The charges grew out of failure to the Denhart bank a year ago. Denhart was 89 years old Tuesday.

P. S. CO. DROPS MANY COUNTY TROLLEY LINES

More Than Fourth of Such Service Affected by Program
Under Way.

More than one-fourth of the mileage of Public Service Co. trolley lines in St. Louis County has been abandoned by the company during the last year and a half or will be abandoned if pending endeavors are successful.

Four short lines have been eliminated altogether, a long one soon will be shortened. There is a court fight over shortening another long route and one short line has been made still shorter. Only four routes remain unaffected in the plan of the company, upheld by the State Public Service Commission, to eliminate nonpaying suburban trolleys.

Actual and potential abandonment of trolleys aggregates 21.38 miles, leaving 56.62 miles in operation. In four instances the company has substituted or will substitute bus service totaling 11.41 miles, while independent bus operators are relied on for transportation in two other cases.

Company's Program.
The company's abandonment program follows:

Midland line—2.44 miles, in Page avenue between the city limits and the Creve Coeur line; dropped June 23, 1930. Substituted company bus service, 2.94 miles.

St. Peter's line—2.24 miles (including 1.46 miles shared with the St. Charles line), running in Locust and Hunt road, between St. Charles and Natural Bridge roads; dropped on April 8. Company bus service substituted, 2.80 miles.

Bridgeton line—1.33 miles, using private right-of-way between St. Charles line and Bridgeton; dropped Aug. 16. No bus service provided.

Florissant line—3.03 miles, using private right-of-way, between Kinloch and Florissant; dropped Nov. 14. Independent bus service is taking its place, in Florissant road, but one district is not reached by the busses. The company retained 1.92 miles of the trolley line in operation, between Kinloch and Ferguson Junction.

Jefferson Barracks line—2.70 miles, running in South Broadway, between the Broadway trolley loop and Jefferson Barracks; on Nov. 14 the Public Service Commission took under advisement this abandonment application, there having been no opposition. The company purposes to substitute 3.32 miles of bus service.

St. Charles line—7.88 miles, between a point 1000 feet west of Edmundson road, near Overland, and St. Charles. The commission authorized this abandonment last Monday, provided independent bus operators give service in St. Charles road, there being little question that this service will be furnished. The date for abandonment has not been fixed. The company will retain trolleys for 5.47 miles, between Wallston and the point near Overland.

Osage Hills Route Dropped.
Osage Hills (Manchester) line—1.88 miles, in private right of way, in Woodbine avenue and in Big Bend road, between the Kirkwood-Ferguson loop at Magnolia and Woodbine avenue and the Osage Hills loop, all in Kirkwood. Some time ago the commission authorized this abandonment, with the provision that four blocks more in Woodbine avenue, between Magnolia and Clay avenues, might be abandoned if the town decided to pave this thoroughfare. The city upset this order in Circuit Court but the company appealed to the Supreme Court of Missouri, where the case will be argued Jan. 6. A "dinky" trolley is in use on the section in question at present. The company proposed to substitute 2.35 miles of bus service and to retain 7.48 miles of the line, between the Maplewood loop and Magnolia avenue, with two-man trolleys.

Lines the company desires to retain intact—at least for the present, virtually all operation having been reduced to the one-man type—are: Kirkwood-Ferguson, 20.81 miles; Creve Coeur, 14.97 miles; Clayton, 5.27 miles; Brentwood, 2.42 miles. The company has been operating off county bus line which did not replace one of the trolley lines—the 2.2-mile Lemay Ferry line, in the Luxembourg district, which partly takes the place of the old Grand View Railroad, a defunct independent trolley line.

Reason for Abandonment.
One reason for abandonment of trolleys in some instances was the possible necessity of paving or changing the grade of tracks in connection with public improvements. This was the case with Page avenue, Lucas and Hunt road, South Broadway, Big Bend road and Woodbine avenue. In the instance of the St. Charles line the company wished to avoid a $13,000 share of a viaduct to carry State highway No. 77 over the tracks.

The Public Service Commission, in the St. Charles case, enunciated a policy agreeing with the company's contention. It held that the company was entitled to relief in continued operation of nonpaying trolley lines, where adequate bus service would be substituted, and from capital expenditures, such as those in connection with the public improvements mentioned, where they would not be productive of revenue.

"I learned SPENDING-SENSE from this tube of TOOTH PASTE"

"Lately, ever since money's been tightening up on me, I've been a good prospect for any way of saving cash without losing quality. And I've discovered just as good a tooth paste as I used to get—for half the price! That's taught me to study values in everything I buy.

"Always used to spend 50¢ a tube for tooth paste. Then one day I saw Listerine Tooth Paste advertised at 25¢, so I tried it.

"At first I was interested chiefly in the economy—each person in my family would cost $3 a year less, for tooth paste alone.

Results as wonderful as the economy.

"But now we're all just as enthusiastic over its results. Nothing could make your teeth whiter, leave your breath sweeter, and your mouth fresher.

This is how several million of constant users have reacted to Listerine Tooth Paste. Not only men—women, who are so particular about preserving the beauty of their teeth.

All discolorations vanish.

A special polishing agent cleans twice as thoroughly in half the time. Tartar, tobacco stains—every discoloration vanishes. Yet it will never hurt your precious tooth enamel.

The makers of Listerine used all their 49 years of experience in oral hygiene, to make this tooth paste. And it justified their staking their name and reputation on it.

We are able to offer you this first-rate product at so low a price, because our manufacturing methods are the last word in efficiency, and because of immense production, to fill the increasingly great demand. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo.

TOYS FOR 7000 NEEDY CHILDREN DISTRIBUTED

Repairs Have Worked for Weeks, But Many More Articles Are Needed.

Brigades of toy soldiers, battalions of dolls and squadrons of airplanes await the dawn of Christmas ready to bring happiness to thousands of children dependent on others for their holiday cheer. The annual distribution of gifts by the Board of Religious Organizations began yesterday at its Christmas workshop in the Plaza-Olive building, 1218 Olive street, and will continue at least until Dec. 15.

For several weeks city firemen have mended everything from dolls to miniature fire engines. Fire engine houses have been transformed into toy shops, busy places even between alarms. Members of various churches, both men and women, have taken turns in the board's workshop, painting, mending, sewing and gluing, that old toys may be as fresh as ever to the children who will receive them.

There are toys enough for 5000 children, Mrs. Fred Armstrong Jr., in charge of the distribution, said, but more are needed. They may be taken to the Plaza-Olive building, she said, or to any city engine house, or donors may telephone Central 7055 and their toys will be collected.

Toys are given only to families recommended by Community Fund relief agencies, although Mrs. Armstrong said a general distribution might be made if any toys remained after their lists were filled. Appointments for parents at the distribution center are made in advance by representatives of the various agencies, so there was no waiting line during the first day of distribution yesterday.

Toys, neatly arranged in sections, all the fire trucks together, close to a score of airplanes, fill a large room. In giving them the size of the family is considered so that a major gift, like an elaborate game set, is given to families containing several children near the same age. Children who will receive gifts this year include 40000 recommended by the Provident Association, 1700 by the Red Cross and 400 by the Board of Children's Guardians.

Dolls, about 2000 of them, brand-new in spick and span dresses, have a section all to themselves. Doll dishes are numerous, too, but Mrs. Armstrong said there never were enough to go around.

Last year, the fourth in which the board distributed gifts, 2506 families were supplied. One of the early arrivals prior to the distribution yesterday was Capt. Joseph Olinger of No. 16 Truck Company, his arms filled with dolls. Mrs. Olinger bore an armful, too. She dressed 35 dolls and members of the company mended many more.

HOOVER'S SUPPORT SOUGHT FOR CALUMET RIVER PROJECT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—President Hoover's aid in a $20,000,000 Federal project on the Calumet River in Northern Illinois and Indiana was sought yesterday by a delegation of nearly 40 men from that section.

Led by Representative Wood, Indiana, they represented the Grand Calumet Improvement Association, seeking an appropriation to extend the Illinois waterway through the Calumet sag channel to form a link between the Great Lakes on the north and the Mississippi River on the south.

Wood reported Hoover had expressed "sympathy with the proposal," but said the project depended on when funds would be available.

John G. Phrommer of Hammond, Ind., president of the association, said that while a Federal appropriation of $20,000,000 might be required, the funds to be advanced by the Illinois and Indiana sections concerned might double that amount.

Man, 70, Bound and Robbed. MOUNT CARMEL, Ill., Dec. 10.—Mike Hart, 70 years old, living alone in a sparsely settled neighborhood, reported to Sheriff Ed Abell today that two men broke into his house Tuesday night, bound him to the bed and then ransacked and robbed the place.

It's Up to the Women

From an Editorial in the January Ladies' Home Journal

The purchasing agents of twenty-nine million American families—the women in the homes—can have a lot to do with starting the wheels of prosperity turning early in the new year Nineteen Thirty-Two.

Each one with three meals a day to prepare—87,000,000 meals today, tomorrow, next day and all days.

Millions of pairs of shoes and stockings for children's scuffling feet; millions of dresses.

Millions of cakes of soap to wash dishes and clothes and dirty hands; millions of tubes of toothpaste; millions of cosmetic items for the sake of good looks that, depression or no depression, must be maintained.

Motor cars, refrigerators, washing machines, homes, all the major items of big family expense, which husband and wife buy together, with woman's wants and woman's voice always a factor in decisions.

Living standards must be maintained!

There is nothing to fear—except fear.

When the buying public starts buying again, instead of wearing old clothes, driving old cars, living with old furnishings, getting along with antiquated equipment, cutting down on food supplies, and in general waiting for still lower prices and for so-called "better times"—

Then retailers will start moving their stocks from their shelves; manufacturers will start making new goods; labor will find full employment and buying power; money will rapidly come into full circulation—

And normalcy will have returned.

The Journal reader who maintains at this time for herself and her family the highest standard of living that her income can afford, is the woman America needs to help end this depression. She has always courageously played her part. We are confident that she will play it today.

It's up to the women!

Join now in this national movement to help restore normal living. For fuller details of the plan, send your name today to the American Economists Committee for Women's Activities, Independence Square, Philadelphia, and be one of the leaders in the return to prosperity.

CHICAGO MILK PRICE REDUCED FROM 13 TO 12 CENTS A QUART

Dairy Companies and Representatives of 19,000 Producers Reach Agreement.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—The price of milk in quarts will be reduced from 13 to 12 cents in Chicago and nearby suburbs starting Jan. 1. The announcement came last night at the end of a conference between dairy companies and representatives of the 19,000 farmers selling to the metropolitan market.

A formal statement, issued by both parties, reads:

"The Pure Milk Association at midnight announced a reduction of 11 cents per hundred pounds of basic milk, effective Jan. 1, 1932. The new cost to the distributors will be $2.61 per hundred pounds for milk testing 3.5 per cent in butter fat, 1.6 per cent in solids and 1.6 per cent in water. The reduction in price was asked by the distributors to enable them to lower the price per quart on Jan. 1."

By the agreement, the farmers accept 15 per cent of the reduction and the dealers the rest. The Pure Milk Association is an organization of dairy farmers in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. A pint of milk will continue to cost eight cents.

MAJOR LEAGUES CUT PLAYER LIMIT FOR NEXT SEASON TO 23

ECONOMY MOVE IS EXPECTED TO SAVE TWO CIRCUITS $160,000; CARDS TRYING TO SELL WILSON

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Due to decreased attendance and business conditions, baseball players' salaries will be reduced next season. The club owners of the American and National Leagues, in joint session here today, reached this agreement.

The 1932 major league season will open April 12 and close Sept. 25 with a schedule of 154 games, the same as last year.

By J. Roy Stockton.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—Bill Killefer of the Browns did his first mild cheering of the annual meeting today when it was announced that the major leagues had decided to reduce the player limit from 25 to 23 men.

The decision means that a few small crumbs may fall from the table of the more prosperous clubs and that the Browns and other struggling teams may get a break.

The American League magnates were divided on the player limit but the majority favored a reduction to 23. In the National League also was a difference of opinion, the majority voting for 23. When the vote was divided at the joint meeting it was up to Commissioner Landis to cast the deciding ballot and he voted for a 23-man limit.

This economy move will save the two leagues about $160,000 in salaries, with each club saving $10,000 through the reduction of the player limit.

The action also will cast as 32 players who have been warming the benches in major league parks.

The Big Trade.

Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey, the outstanding business men of the baseball world, who performed a major operation on their payroll yesterday by trading Burt Hooton to the Cubs for Black Wilson and Bud Tschetter, were looking for a new customer today.

Grimes, the stubble-bearded fighter of the pitching line, who helped to give the National League its first world championship since 1917 when he defeated the Athletics twice in the recent title series, is gone with his $20,000 a year contract, but the Cardinals have on their hands the job of finding a market for Wilson, who last year was said to have a contract calling for $35,000.

The Cardinals are not going to keep Wilson, however, and Breadon and Rickey were openly shopping for a bargain, as the close of the annual convention since 1925 when he defeated the Athletics twice in the recent title series, is gone with his $20,000 a year contract, but the Cardinals have on their hands the job of finding a market for Wilson, who last year was said to have a contract calling for $35,000.

Crystal City and Bachelors Win in Basket Circuit

The Bachelor and Crystal City Legion Post 555 teams, which met in the play-off for the Greater St. Louis Girls' Basketball championship last year, got away to a flying start this season by winning the opening engagement at Battery A last night.

The Crystal City team scored 13 points in the third quarter to clinch its game with M. K. & T. 24-17, while the Bachelors were given a hard battle all the way before finally disposing of the Aquinas Club, a new member of the league, 17-13.

In the opening contest, the M. K. & T. girls never trailed by more than four points until late in the game. However, Ruth Ploussard, Marie Rogers and Capt. Madison combined in the third quarter to give their team enough points to win.

Ploussard was the high scorer of the evening, with five field goals and two free throws.

In the fourth period, six players were banished for fouling. They were: Marie Madison, Marie Rogers and Jeanette Marks of Crystal City, and Viola Watkins, Gladys Freeman and Marguerite Gamin of M. K. & T.

In the other contest, Margaret Glaser injured her right knee shortly after the game got under way, and the Bachelor machine failed to click with its regular line-up, Mary Ducker and Teresa Mullen provided the big scoring punch, although Helen Westhus and Emerine Lindner were constantly peppering away at the champs.

Gone But Not Forgotten.

THE passing of Buriel Grimes as a member of the Cardinals will be felt more by fans than by the club's officials. Players who put their heart into the contest as Grimes did are rare birds in this "get the record" age.

Not to Grimes a ball game was not just another day's work. It was a fight into which he waded up to his neck. He battled over until run-ins, he figured out every pitch to every batter, he hustled and hustled about the diamond coaching his helpers, and there were times when he talked his way out of difficulties to take out his tired pitching arm.

A hard loser, a hard fighter and one of the keenest minds that ever faced a batter, he gave St. Louis fans its greatest thrills during his two years with the club. Even in defeat he had the fans cheering him, as witness that world series game of last year when he hooked up with Barnshaw in a great pitching duel and lost only when his efforts, let Fox hoist one out of the lot.

The fans are the losers by Grimes' departure.

However, the deal has its advantages, provided the club decides to keep Hack Wilson. Here is a colorful figure. St. Louisans rather like Hack. They were pulling for him to come through last year. He got a big hand at Sportsman's Park during his appearances here.

Rogers Hornsby himself is authority for the statement that "Wilson next season will be exactly what he wants himself to be. If he takes care of himself he will again be a great hitter, if he doesn't he will be worse than useless."

Perhaps Wilson, if he remains here or wherever he goes, will see the light and come through with another big year.

What Price Dumbness?

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY developed a whale of a football team this year; but it lost three hard-fought and very close games to the Yale team, their eleven could replace all three opponents and beat them.

Nobody can prevent them from thinking. And that applies to observers who differ. The fact is through its own shortcomings.

This is best shown in the charity game against Tennessee, where the first touchdown was the result of slow-thinking and the second of slow or poor tackling.

Feathers of Tennessee scored the first touchdown on an off tackle play, running 65 yards for a touchdown. There was dumb work at the cross-roads.

At the play got under way the referee's whistle blew. The New York players ceased up, thinking it was a penalty against Tennessee. It was a costly thought and one no good football team ever indulges in.

Ordinary players stop the runner first and then question. But New York. That team guessed and guessed wrong. It turned out that the offense penalty was against New York.

The Volunteers chose to reject the penalty and take the touchdown.

In making the second score, Brackett (a substitute) ran 75 yards through almost the entire New York field. Even when past the line of scrimmage, four New Yorkers tried to stop him and were bowled out of the way.

Between poor thinking and poor tackling, we'll say New York paid the right price—defeat.

However, as to the first touchdown, it is a question whether the misunderstanding of an official's whistle should be penalized by a touchdown. It's quite as topheavy as was the old penalty whereby a recovered fumble could be turned into a score.

We Have With Us—

THE greatest football player that ever carried a ball in the opinion of that dean of the country's gridiron authorities, Glenn Warner, is journeying here today—Ernie Nevers.

This smiling blond giant, who would not require very much scenery to resemble a Viking of old, is in the city with his professional football eleven, the Chicago Cardinals, tuning up for the game next Sunday with Jimmy Connelman's Battery A "Gunners."

Nevers is still the main spring of his outfit and his more than 200 pounds of bone and muscle are an even more formidable deterrent than the days when he was playing for the Stanford University team first won the commendation of Pop Warner. The other day Warner reiterated his belief that Nevers was the greatest player of all time.

"Brain" as well as brawn account for Nevers' ability," Pop declares.

Through With Baseball.

ST. LOUIS remembers Nevers through his connection with the Browns, several years ago. As a college prospect he was so good that Phil Ball paid Nevers $7500 to sign a contract, although he was just out of the university.

Nevers did fairly well as a pitcher for the Browns, but at the end of two years he had not made much progress and decided to quit when mention was made of sending him back to the minors for seasoning.

Nevers had continued to play for the Browns, but at the end of two years he had not made much progress and decided to quit when mention was made of sending him back to the minors for seasoning.

DETROIT PLAYER HANDS RUDOLPH FIRST DEFEAT IN POCKET TOURNEY

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—Swept from his high pinnacle by a youngster playing in his second tournament, Edwin Rudolph of Cleveland, defending champion, today found himself on the second rung of the ladder at the world's championship billiard tournament now in its second week.

The veteran star was administered a surprise tremor last night by Marcel Camp, 24, of Detroit, 125 to 24, in seven innings. The upset automatically put Ralph Greenleaf, former champion, at the top of the heap with four victories to his credit and no losses. Rudolph has played five games in this week and camp was the first man to beat him. He seemed to have trouble with his eyes last night and bathed them frequently during the game.

Goes Out With Run of 50.

The Detroit star, the only left-hander in the tournament, had won only one of five contests when he stepped up to meet the champion. He played carefully and deliberately, however, and ran out with an unfinished high run of 50.

Camp, the youngest player in the tournament, duplicated the feat performed in Detroit two years ago when he defeated Taberski, then the defending champion. In that same year he started the pocket billiard world when he triumphed over Greenleaf, the winner of the 1929 title, in his second game.

Camp played with great speed and daring and seemed in no way afraid of the champion. At the end of the fourth inning he led by 17 to 10 and in the next three innings he led runs of 25, 18 and 50. Many believed that Rudolph would win when he trailed at 75 to 21 for in this tournament he trailed Spencer Livsey at 65 to 2 and Robert Lindblom at 61 to 14, yet won with ease.

Layton Loos Another.

In other matches, Andy Forni of Philadelphia, and Ondre Lauri, the Brooklyn violinist, tied for fifth place by defeating Spencer Livsey of Los Angeles and Al Miller of Racine, Wis., respectively in the afternoon games.

Frank Taberski of Schenectady, N. Y., set a new tournament high run record for himself of 32 when he downed Johnny Layton of St. Louis, 125 to 6 in six innings. His previous record was 31.

The tournament, which opened here Dec. 30, is scheduled to end Dec. 31.

Robert Lindblom of Seattle today won his first match in seven starts by defeating Ondre Lauri of Brooklyn, 125 to 32, in 25 innings.

Football Star Engaged.

STANFORD, Cal., Dec. 10.—Announcement of the engagement of Miss Jean Jamison, recently voted the prettiest and most intelligent coed on the Stanford University campus, and Phil Moffatt, Stanford football star from Oklahoma City, was made here today. They will marry in June.

Horner to Meet Jack Purvis Again

Jack Purvis of Indianapolis and Jackie Horner of St. Louis have signed for a return bout on the professional fight card at the South Broadway A. C. next Tuesday night, and Dave Barry, former Springfield, Ill., fighter, has been scheduled to meet another bout or not he is Horner's master in the ring.

Kid Bandy, matchmaker of the Fred W. Stockham Post, is now endeavoring to obtain an opponent for Barry.

Tulane Will Lose Seven Players From 1931 Championship Eleven

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—Tulane's green were will have a heavy load to carry next season with the loss of seven players, and seven varsity players combined with a stiffer schedule.

Under such difficulties it will be called upon to defend the Southern Conference championship. But supporters of the team believe Tulane can come through if the good ends can be found to replace the stars.

Jerry Dairymple and Lefty Haynes, who leave after blasting a brilliant record across the football horizon.

Six candidates for the wing jobs have appeared in this year's substitutes, Boasberg and De Laune, might come through, but they will be challenged by Charles O'Neill, third stringer, and three men from the freshmen team, Mullins, Hall and Clark.

The rest of the line is well fixed with Lodrigue back for center, Scifide and Calhoun at guards, Bankston and Cunningham at tackles.

Kentucky Derby Will Be Run on May 7 Next Year

By the Associated Press.
THE Kentucky Derby, most famous of America's turf classics, is to be run a week before the Preakness, the Big Maryland three-year-old event, in 1932 instead of the usual date.

Matthias L. Daiger, secretary of the Maryland Jockey Club, who arrived here yesterday in the interests of the Prekness and other Maryland races said he had just heard from Kentucky that the Derby will be run on May 7.

The Prekness date is May 14.

East St. Louis High Five Wins Overtime Game

The East St. Louis High School basketball team won its first start of the season yesterday afternoon at the Lansdowne Gym, defeating St. Louis University High five in a game which required two extra periods. Eddie Lottman, East Side guard, scored a charity toss, to make the score 17 to 15 in favor of the East Siders.

The game was closely contested throughout. The first quarter ended 5 to 2 in favor of the East St. Louis, while at the half the East Side team was still leading, 8 to 4. The East Side team is rated as a strong contender for the Southwestern Illinois Conference honors.

At the sound of the gun ending the regular playing time, Leonard St. Louis U. high's left guard, let so a long shot from the center of the floor that fell into the basket tying the score, 15 to 15.

There were numerous substitutions for both squads.

CONCORDIA WILL OPPOSE VETERAN FIVE TOMORROW

Anxious to avenge a one-point defeat of last year, the Concordia Seminary basketball team will meet the Arkansas Aggies tomorrow night at the Washington University Field House. It will be the opening game of the season for Concordia.

The same lineup that defeated the Preachers, 18 to 17, last season will represent the Aggies. This year's five consists of Bill Hendrix and Coburn Thornton, forwards; Nolan Lamb, center; Harold Keller and Capt. Hosea McDaniel, guards. These five others who complete the barnstorming Aggies are Woodrow Morgan, Jim Himes, Bud Covner,

Coach Al Oehlers can and probably will send an experienced Concordia crew against this array of talent. Four of the five players who start the game appeared against Arkansas last season. They are Capt. Billy Ructer, Herb Etzler and Dick Lehman, guards; and Al Kellerman, forward. This group has been increased by the addition of Paulson and Dohrman, either of whom will start opposite Kellerman and Herb Brodemeier, center.

For reserves, Oehlers has John Herzog, a strong candidate for the center job and Strelow and Tubising, forwards. It is not unlikely that Oehlers will maintain this squad for the entire season of 11

After the Aggies, Concordia will meet the Baker U. five, Dec. 17, at Washington University. Immediately after the holidays, on Jan. 5, the Preachers are also host to Centenary College.

Truman Connell, 16-year-old Winter Garden skater, established a new national intermediate record for the two-mile event at the Winter Garden last night. Connell covered the 26 laps in 6:49, clipping 15.3 seconds from the recognized record, set by Herman Sind in the national meet held here Feb. 24, 1929. Sind's time was 7:04.5. John Cohen, of the Winter Garden, finished second to Connell and James Mackey third.

In the Class A senior race, Lamar Ottsen, Winter Garden, set a new record of 6:47.5. This is the first of Otto Brands' records to fall.

The Class B senior event went to Elmer Dorfmont in 7:19, while Roy Beckman of the Pledge team set a new Class C senior record of 7:21.5.

In the skate-off between Charlene Power of the Winter Garden city champion, and Elsie Laszkowitz of the Sunset Park team, the State champion, Miss Laszkowitz won in the half-mile race. Each now owns one victory. The final mile event will be skated next Monday evening. Bee Slater won the half-mile match race from Dedah Power.

NOTRE DAME ELEVEN DREW 500,000 FANS DURING PAST SEASON

By the Associated Press.
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 10. — NOTRE DAME's football team played before approximately 500,000 spectators in eight games last season, a drop of less than 20,000 from 1930 figures when nine games were played.

The total attendance for home games showed an increase, however, in spite of the fact that one less game was played at South Bend. In four games at home, the Irish drew 144,000 spectators.

The Southern California game at Los Angeles in 1930, drew 90,000 for the high mark of that season, while the Army contest at New York this year drew 80,000.

Final Workouts For Boxers on Tippett's Card

Final workouts are scheduled for this afternoon for the 10 fighters who will take part in the five matches on tomorrow night's professional boxing card at Croftian A. C. Hall, 1418 Chouteau avenue. Jack C. Tippett, matchmaker for the Walter Hatfield Post of the American Legion, is presenting a fistic program that includes a 10-round bout, three eight-round scraps and a four-round curtain-raiser. All told, there will be 35 rounds of boxing.

The winner of the Al Stillman-Bobby Hamilton light-heavyweight match, which is the main event, will be used against a formidable foe in the principal bout on Tippett's next card. Stillman will be seeking his nineteenth knockout victory; and, by the way, he has been beaten only four times in 44 bouts.

After enjoying a successful tour through Indiana and other Middle Western states, Allen Matthews, St. Louis Negro welterweight, returns for the semi-final bout against Joe Walcott of Boston. Walcott has won such tournaments as Bucky Lawless and Spug Meyers.

In the two other eight-rounders, Johnny Nichols will try to avenge a previous setback when he battles Rube Johnson of Oklahoma, and Sammy Seaman of Los Angeles, whose record is heavily dotted with one-sided victories, faces LeRoy Dougan of Blytheville, who has beaten Dave Barry twice. Johnny Miles and Jack Casey clash in the four-round curtain-raiser. They are light-heavyweights.

BATTALINO WILL BOX FIVE ROUNDS BEFORE BOAT WITH SINGER

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 10. — Christopher "Big Boy" Battalino, who was to leave here today for his bout tomorrow with Al Singer at Madison Square Garden, New York, may fight 15 rounds instead of 10, as scheduled.

The featherweight champion, known as a slow starter, plans to box five rounds in his dressing room just before the bout in order to be thoroughly "warmed up" when the fight starts. He employed this system successfully in his last bout against Earl Mastro in Chicago.

Battalino weighed 131 pounds to about a final 127. About 300 local fans will leave here tonight to see the fight.

Mal Stevens to Coach Yale Team Again Next Year

By the Associated Press.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 10. — Mal Stevens who brought to Yale this season its first "Big Three" championship in four years, was reappointed head football coach yesterday by the Yale Athletic Board of Control.

The appointment, which is for one year, will bring Stevens back in 1932 for his fifth consecutive year as head coach.

Benny Friedman, former Michigan passing ace, who served as a part time coach this year and as guest coach the year before, was not included in the appointments announced. Officials made no comment on this action.

The board also reappointed Adam Walsh, former Notre Dame star, as line coach, and Charles Comerford as end coach.

Albie Booth, captain of the 1931 eleven who was taken to a sanatorium before the end of the season, was named a junior varsity coach in line with a Yale policy of having the retiring captain return as coach the following season.

The remainder of the football coaching staff was announced as follows: Junior varsity, Ducky Fond, Stanley Gill, Frank Marting; freshmen, Reginald D. Root, Bucky O'Connor, Stewart Scott and Robert Hall.

RAIL SHARES LEAD BRISK RALLY FROM LOW MARKET

Number of Prominent Issues Virtually Cancel Losses — Many Net Declines of 1 to 2 Points — Averages at New Low Early.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 10. — Rail shares led a brisk rally in the stock market today, after a flurry of heavy selling was absorbed in the morning. A number of prominent issues virtually canceled their losses in the upturn, and a few closed with small gains, but many net losses of 1 to 2 points remained at the finish. The closing tone was steady. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

The market dropped about 1 to 5 points in heavy selling during the earlier hours of trading, but recovered much of the loss in the last hour, as sentiment toward the railroads improved, coincident with unconfirmed rumors that railway brotherhood delegates, meeting at Chicago, were taking a more sympathetic attitude toward the carriers' request for a temporary wage cut.

Union Pacific, which had dropped 5 points, regained all but a fraction of its loss. Santa Fe regained about 2 of its 4-point loss. A few shares closed with gains of about 1 point, including New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio and Lehigh Valley. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel lost about a point, but American Telephone regained most of an early decline. Moderate losses predominated at the finish, however. General Motors closed off a fraction after dropping to new low.

The selling appeared to be largely a continuation of the movement of the previous session, and brokers said there was a considerable amount of forced selling, representing liquidation of impaired collateral loans. Some, however, felt that a technical rebound might be in the making.

Introduction of measures in Congress calling for investigations of such matters as international banking, short selling and the railroads, invoked considerable interest in Wall Street. While Wall Street has been traditionally unfriendly to such investigations, it is understood that in the present situation several financial leaders are anxious of an opportunity to state their case.

The stock market remained under the cloud of unimpaired business news. U. S. Steel's report of a drop of 18,541 tons in unfilled tonnage for November was not unexpected, in view of the lack of interest in steel buying during the winter. Motor makers are still proceeding with extreme caution.

Selling of the oils was interpreted as partly reflecting a decline in gasoline prices. The advance of a few weeks ago had not been well maintained. Foreign exchanges suggested some fresh withdrawal of foreign funds from this market. The French franc was particularly weak, cables ruling 1/2 of a point higher at 3.92 1/2. Sterling, the German mark, and other leading currencies were higher.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

LONDON, Dec. 10. — The stock market, influenced by German and Argentine time while the dollar market was firm following the hardening of sterling. Industrial shares were weak.

PARIS, Dec. 10. — The Bourse, reacting from yesterday's slump, showed a slight recovery. The stock market was firm, while the dollar market showed moderate advance. The closing was irregular.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 5 TO 8 POINTS HIGHER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. — Foreign exchange rates were steady today. The dollar was strong, and the market was firm. The price of gold was steady, and the market was firm.

THE passage was rough. People were magnificently sick. Not Bill, who at all times enjoyed superb health and a sense of balance, not Natty, who had a comparative privacy of their blue-robed cabin with its twin beds and tiled bath, which had any amount of trick showers labeled Hot and Cold and Hot and Fresh. He had few contacts on the boat. Most of the people traveling down that December were sugar people returning from business or vacation trips, or pairs of tourists, or dark, Spanish-speaking persons with

The very best remedy for that state before it makes trouble between you and your husband is to move. It is almost always fatal to live with either side of the family. Even if you cannot live to get away and have peace. I do not know that it would do any good, but you might surprise this girl who is so overbearing, by rising up yourself some day and telling her that you want to be friends,
but if she continues to treat you
in this way, you will have nothing to do with her, even in the house;
and certainly she can never expect
you to lend or give her anything.

DEAR MRS. CARR: My question is, what should one wear
when graduating in a midyear term? The exercises will take place at 10 o'clock in the morning, with a banquet at a large hotel.

Ordinarily white is the dress for graduation, but the custom varies at different schools. If you do not wear the conventional white crepe dress, a pretty luncheon or afternoon frock, with hat, gloves, shoes
to harmonize is the proper dress.
This may be velvet, crepe or light weight wool, longer, a little, than your school dresses, and dresier.

If you ask My Opinion

Martha Carr

DEAR MARTHA CARR: I am
the mother of a daughter 16 years old. I am sorry to say I have a habit of interrupting. Last evening my daughter brought a friend home and while we were telling something, I noticed the girl did not drink her coffee,
and without asking to be excused,
I interrupted and said, "Is your coffee hot enough?"

My daughter became very angry,
and referring to me, said to the girl, "Isn't she the rudest thing?"

I was terribly hurt and a little angry to think that a young girl would say that. I begged with pardon and smoothed things over. Now, what I want to know is, which was the rudest? H. S.

I would say that the lack of
"family manners" was responsible for the trouble. The habit of interrupting in the family circle was one that you and your husband should have established while the girl was a little child, and your failure to ask to be excused shows that it is not a fixed habit in your household. Whether a "guest" is present or not, the rudeness is the same. A little form and much politeness will often keep a household and these human relations running smoothly as nothing else will.

Your daughter's manners at this time were unbecomable. She should have made allowances for your kindly solicitude as hostess, and I have no doubt if the guest was one properly reared, your daughter's rudeness to her mother embarrassed her more than your kindly interruption that was not preceded by the polite form "excuse me."

DEAR MRS. CARR: How fortunate that lady is, the one mentioned in the first letter on Dec. 1, but I wouldn't want to change places with her, as she has only one child. She seems ungrateful, with her maid and car and every luxury. If she had the troubles of some of us, perhaps she would appreciate what she has.
For the last 12 years, for instance,
I have stayed in the store and helped my husband with his business, done my washing and ironing and all my work.

I have had four healthy fine children, too. But I get no headway, get my husband out of financial trouble, and get no affection or attention from him. I was oppressed on and he didn't even get out of his chair to say good-by or come to see me. I can't buy a house dress and have only one pair of stockings, which I wash
at night. If I break a cup or spoil a dress and also shouts at the children. What shall I do? Can a woman do too much for a man,
when she took him for better or worse?

HEAVY HEARTED.

Yes, a woman can spoil a man—
and vice versa. It is unfortunate that marriages must sometimes mean entirely "for worse."

And as you say, the woman of the Dec.
letter, who fails to appreciate her years of college work. My funds were so depleted I was unable to continue. I was unsuccessful about getting a job and became associated with a friend who had no ambition and discouraged any in me.

One day I finally woke up and found out what a fool I had been;
that I really had not been trying to get a job. I got one "a my line just as soon as I buckled down to
it. Well, then—I met the nicest girl in the whole world and now everything is nice and rosy again.
I've not only been working, but by next year will have finished my schooling by attending night school at the same time. Hope "Laughter" will be less cynical and will take some good advice.

HAPPY AGAIN.

DEAR MRS. CARR: There is a boy across the way whom I like very much. He says we are just friends, but I like him more than that. He took me out and I have phoned three times since. I want to know how I can win him.
A LONELY ONE.

Just off hand, I should say—by letting him get his breath! But there are six more in my morning
mail who ask the same question:
"J. B. N., "Unwanted," "Foolish,"
"Wondering" and "Perplexed."

There is no one set rule to fit
these cases, but the circumstances
are so similar that the suggestions
I have made on "popularity"
might help as well as any individual comment I might make. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope
and I will mail them to you.

DEAR MRS. CARR: While at camp this summer I met a boy
I liked and after we returned
I continued to pal around with him.
So he included my girl friend and me in his bunch. For the past few months when we go over to his house he is never at home. Thanksgiving day we had an awful disappointment and my girl friend is just about fed up on him. I've treated him coolly since. Do you think he is getting tired of our company? PUZZLED H. M.

The best plan, even if he invites you again, is to stay away a while.
You see, it is better to go too soon than too much—then these things do not happen. You young people ought to learn not to accept every invitation a friend offers and not to see too much of anyone.

HERE AND THERE ON THE AIR

Brass instruments of the orches-

part of Walter Damrosch's concert at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning on KSD and KWK. The second part will be devoted to Old World dances, including the polka from Smetana's opera, "The Bartered Bride," and the waltz from "The Sisters," by Waldteufel. . . . An abridged version of "La Traviata"
will be broadcast over KRLD, WLAC, WCCO, KMBC and WOW
at 9:30 tonight. The orchestra will be Howard Barlow's. Adele Vass, Theo Karle and Evan Evans will sing the chief roles. . . . WGN has dropped its Dream Ship concerts of beautiful music at 10:15 nights, except on Sunday, for a program with Ted Weems as master of ceremonies, a popular pianist and a "singing team." This change tells the story of radio's course in the past year and a half.
The A Capella Choir of Northwestern University will sing
over WGN at 9 o'clock tonight. . . .
Two exceptional WLW broadcasts are the Los Amigos concert of Latin-American music at 10:30
Tuesday night and the Musical Bridges program of fine music
in an unusual word setting at 7:15
Friday night. . . . Many listeners regard the Bel Canto singers on WEAF, at 9:15 Sunday nights, as among the most pleasing quartets on the air. . . . A strings and piano trio playing good music over WEAF at 5:30 Wednesday was worth remembering. The same station broadcast a pleasing piano recital at 5:45. . . . Ted Husing will interview Olympic Games officials and athletes at 4:45 tomorrow

on the CBS chain. . . . Morning programs tomorrow on the CBS net

will include: German lieder recital
by Julia Mahoney, at 10 o'clock;
music from Friml, Romberg and Luders operettas by Deutsch's orchestra at 11:30; performance of a brief version of "Yeomen of the

"LIONEL Trains Are Real"—

Says

Engineer Bill Smith

of the famous

"Blue Comet"

The "Blue Comet" is the famous fast
train of the New Jersey Central Railroad, running between New York and Atlantic City.

Here's what Engineer Smith has to say:

"You can tell the boys of the country for me that Lionel Trains are the only real,
true-to-life model electric trains that I know of. They are so sturdy, so beautifully made and so accurate in detail, that my boy will enjoy playing with them—
and learn as he plays."

Home-Going Planes

THE Little Black Clock had certainly turned the time ahead.
The air was simply filled with planes. And he shouted to them at once.

"Hurry, hurry, hurry!"
They knew from that, too, that he had turned the time ahead. A plane landed not far from where they were standing and the Little Black Clock told them to follow him.

They did so and almost immediately took their places in the plane.

In another second or so they were off, and now they joined the great crowd of planes in the air.

There were beacon lights everywhere, and the lights from tall buildings and the street lights
could be seen below, as well as many landing places on various roofs over which they passed.

"Everyone is now going home from work," the Little Black Clock announced.

"That's why the air traffic is so heavy, and everyone is in a rush
to get home for supper."

How the planes did fly along.
Every air lane was crowded with the planes, and John and Peggy could hardly think—they were going so quickly.

Now they were going more slowly and now they turned around and went back to the place from which they had started.

As they landed the Little Black Clock said it really had been almost too quick a ride, and John and Peggy felt as though they were still going for some time afterward.

"Well, tomorrow night," he said
as he wished them a good night's sleep, "you are going to see what the snowflakes consider the greatest fun in the world."
